FOREWORD

IN THE heart of the plains of the great Mid-West lies a camp, teeming with happy workers intent upon broadening their individual lives and upon bettering in every conceivable way their beloved village. Many are the achievements for which these energetic people strive individually; but, for their settlement, all have the same aim: to make it a happier, better place in which to live and work.

We students of Peoria High School are the inhabitants of this thriving village, of which we are all justly proud. Because each of us does his utmost to make our school a friendly, cheerful place in which to study, we take the liberty of comparing ourselves to Indians, who, of all peoples, best typify love for and loyalty to their race.

Thus in the development of this book, we portray our friendship theme by depicting our school as an Indian village lying peaceably surrounded by the fires of friendship. Our four classes are represented by the Indian children: the faculty is our dignified advisory council, by whose judgment we are guided. In our organizations we work together in a spirit of good fellowship as when, peace pipe in hand, Indians hold their tribal Pow Wow. Student activities afford us a festive native war dance; and in the same gay and sportive mood, we offer our young brave to compete with the athletes of rival tribes. The features correspond to the Medicine Man of the Indian village, for they keep up the spirits of our students; and as news of other tribes is brought by the Indian runner, the messages of our patrons are brought to our readers through our section of advertisements.

We have kept a concise record of the important events that have occurred in our camp during the year, and about these we have built our book. Now as the sun sets upon our high school career, we Seniors present this 1931 Crest with the hope that it will give you the pleasure it has given us.

DEDICATION

"Make new friends, but keep the old,
Those are silver, these are gold;
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test—
Time and change—are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow gray,
Friendship never knows decay.
For 'mid old friends, tried and true,
Once more we our youth renew.
But old friends, alas, may die,
New friends must their place supply.
Cherish friendship in your breast,
New is good, but old is best;
Make new friends, but keep the old,
Those are silver, these are gold."

FRIENDSHIP is the subject of many poems and essays written by some of the world's finest authors. Of all the memorable lines that have been written, none are sweeter than the ones quoted above —none have a more direct application to friendships formed in high school.

Upon entering high school we cultivated many new friendships which have endured throughout the four years. Although we shall, without doubt, make many more in the years to come, these high school friendships will always remain dear to us. There are ties of affection binding us to our instructors and fellow-students which time cannot sever.

High school days have brought us friends who have inspired us to live better lives, to accomplish greater things—friends of whom we wish to be worthy. We feel their influence in our lives; and wherever we may roam, we shall never forget them.

To these dear friends, to these lasting friendships, we dedicate the 1931 Crest.

MR. E. C. FISHER

Superintendent of Schools

"Destiny is determined by friendship. Fortune is made or marred when youth selects his companions. A measure of one's greatness is his capacity for exalted friendship.

"Beyond all wealth, honor, or even health, is the attachment we form to noble souls, because to become one with the good, generous, and true, is to become, in a measure, good, generous, and true ourselves.

"Youth is the seed time for friendship. 'He who would have a friend, must be one'."

—E. C. FISHER.

Looking Forward

IN THE next few pages you will meet the staff of teachers who have guided Peoria High's activities during the past year. Several of these are new in our school, and we're glad to see their faces in the pages of our faculty section. The new ones are: Lucille Conibear, John Deal, Mrs. Bessie Hale, Genevieve Iler, Genevieve McConnell, David Owen, Corinth Lange, C. M. Trimble, and A. H. McConnell.

Our instructors this year have worked under very different surroundings and advantages than did the staff of three teachers in Peoria High's first building. Since that first graduation in 1858, Peoria High has trained many students in several different buildings. Many changes have taken place, and now another change is coming when Peoria High will be a "big sister" to the three new junior high schools, the first of which is being started on Manual Training High School's athletic field. Let us review briefly the purposes and advantages of junior high schools.

First, a junior high school may be termed a stepping-stone. It links together the elementary, or grade schools, and the high schools. The junior high is a gradual diminishing of elementary work and a gradual increasing of secondary courses. In this way young students unconsciously acquire the high school methods without having to bridge the gap which formerly existed between the two divisions of the school system.

Next, a junior high is a research laboratory. In the first place it gives opportunities for investigation into various courses and subjects, thereby enabling a student of the present eighth grade age to discover his special interests and abilities. Secondly, he learns of the educational advantages for training his particular talents; and, lastly, he learns of the opportunities for the future and of the benefits he can give to mankind in his particular field of work.

Throughout the whole system, a junior high school is a guide. The courses are general and flexible so that young students can be easily guided into their proper courses of study. The subjects are so arranged that students are guided into the high school courses which they really want, while formerly, students have had no definite purpose for choosing their respective curricula.

Junior high schools point toward the future without suddenly plunging youthful minds into the strange methods of the present high school. It is believed that fewer upperclassmen in the senior high schools will be undecided about their life work because of the investigation, training, and guidance of the junior high.

We find that this will alter our school as a whole. The faculty will be confined to teaching only upperclassmen. There will be fewer students in the school, thus improving the problem of overcrowdedness. Most of all, students entering the senior high will be better prepared for taking over their studies and better experienced for all activities. May the system be a success!

PEORIA HIGH opened her doors to us in September, 1927. We rushed in, anxious to know what this high school life was all about. We soon found just what it meant. It took hard study, but we discovered that school life meant more than that. We have all had innumerable good times and have made many fine friendships during our four years.

We entered school 521 strong. We organized in our Sophomore year and chose Miss Ottenheimer and Mr. Sammis as our class sponsors. It is through their untiring efforts and help that we have been so successful.

We rate high in the history of the school intellectually. We have had many on the honor roll and on the shark list, some of our climbers maintaining a straight "A" average through all the four years. We have had the highest banking average of the classes for the last two years. Not only in our studies but in athletics have we been outstanding. All in all, we have achieved something to be proud of.

Of course you all remember the outstanding event of our Junior year. It was the Junior Prom held at the Pere Marquette Hotel. The ballroom was decorated in the combined colors of the Junior and Senior classes—the orchid and purple of the Seniors blending beautifully with the green and silver of our class. The gay young crowd and the melodious strains of the "Arcadians" were combined to form a perfectly balanced evening.

Our Senior Class Play was a rollicking comedy, "The Patsy". This revealed that we also have some actors and actresses in our class. The play was well attended and received the praise due to it. This play was one of the best plays ever produced at Peoria High.

Now that we have finished this journey, and are approaching a longer and more difficult one, we can only look back with mingled pleasure and regret in leaving our dear Alma Mater and our friends.

JUNIOR

Junior Class History

OFFICERS

President	WILLIAM HILL
Vice-President	ALBERT SIEPERT
Secretary	SHIRLEY HARMS
Treasurer	RUDOLPH HUBER
Advisers	MISS CLARA CLAUSEN MR. SIDNEY WILLIAMS

IT SEEMS that people are never quite satisfied with what they have. We Juniors are happy now that we can't be called "under-classmen"; yet we dread starting our last year at Peoria High, which we know will mean the undertaking of a greater responsibility, and the end of our happy high school days.

The most memorable feature of the year was the annual Junior Prom. It was held April 17 at the Pere Marquette Hotel, with Chuck Garber and his eleven-piece Commodore orchestra from Baltimore playing for the dancing.

Under Miss Janet Buswell's capable direction, the Juniors advertised their Prom with a Prom in pantomime at an assembly on April 13. The week before, students were reminded of the event during lunch hours by a parade of the various classes, supposedly on their way to the Prom. They came in baby-buggies, on horses, by street car, and the dignified Seniors, by automobile.

With all the extra activities and social events of the Junior year, members of the Class of '32 have tried to combine work and play, in order to become all-round students. Many have all A's and B's for the entire period. A few have a straight A average for the first semester: Lucille Stringer, Marie Baer, Betty Whiteker, Maxine Beckett, Ruth Sommer, and Eugenia Hackbarth.

Among the members of Peoria High's three honor societies, Charvice, Promerito, and Dramatic Honor, we find several Juniors.

This year President "Bill" Hill and Vice-President Albert Siepert of the Junior Class were elected to the same positions for next year's Student Council. They defeated Eleanor Wrigley and Berna Dean Sturm, the other candidates. We congratulate our officers on their new positions, and wish them success for next year.

The five Junior representatives in Student Council, Eleanor Wrigley, Eloise Shaw, Bob Swisher, David Curtis, and Edith Adele Lowry, have aided in its achievements during the year. Many Juniors have participated in plays and club activities, and have worked on the Opinion and Crest.

Juniors have also been active in athletics this year, and are looking forward to bringing honors to the good old "Maroon and Black" next year. Letters in football, baseball, basketball, swimming, or golf have been awarded to seventeen Juniors. It was Miss Florence Giles' Junior group which won the championship of the advisory group basketball tournament.

Committee chairmen of the class were as follows: David Curtis, entertainment; Berna Dean Sturm, publicity; Rudolph Huber, finance; Bob Slane, decoration; and Dale Freeburg, banking.

Our capable and sympathetic advisers, Miss Clara Clausen and Mr. Sidney Williams, have aided us many times this year, not only as a class, but as individuals; and we sincerely thank them. To Mr. Brewer and the entire faculty, who have helped us in so many ways, we also express our appreciation.

THE CLASS of '33 has many things of which to be proud, having a reputation for pep, co-operation, and ingenuity.

The "green young Freshies" who entered Peoria High School in September, 1929, have grown into dignified Sophomores. We were a "bumper" class, larger than any previous class, with an enrollment of four hundred and ninety-seven.

Certain boys and girls of the class have made records for the class, the school, and themselves. Our Council representatives have been the following: for 1929-30, Robert Luthy; for 1930-31, Mary Davis, Howard Pettett, and Howard Turnbull. Betty Robinson, Robert Taylor, and Louise Keller will represent the class in Council next year.

"Bebe" Kellogg, Charles Harper, and Tom Galvin upheld our glory in basketball; George Luthy and Roland Lemm did exceptional work on the track team; red-head Cliff Bourne made his presence felt as a cheer-leader. Edna Elmore won the grand prize in an essay contest; Rosamond Clark was elected to the Dramatic Honor Society for distinctive work in the French Club play; and Gene Reid was chosen to represent P. H. S. in the Big Twelve Dramatic Reading Contest. Carolyn Lowry is president of Junior Tri-S.

A number of Sophomores are student prefects: Ralph Johnson, Edward Hudgens, Seymour Adelman, Jack Gross, and David Miller, captain.

The Sophomore basketball team, which won three out of five games, consisted of Tom Galvin, Pete Metroff, Charles Shemel, William Walker, Edward Kellogg, Jack Starry, and Alvin Gebhardt.

The climax of the Sophomore Class career was our assembly. Miss Carmen Morris ably coached us in this work, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Randall, who trained the musical numbers; and Miss Alice Carey, who acted as accompanist. This presentation was the first class assembly, its purpose being to present to the student body a part of the talent to be found in our class.

The plot centered around an afternoon tea at a house party, the hostess being Mary Elizabeth Grigsby, and the guests Mary Crawshaw, William Cutter, Mary Davis, Ned Davis, Margaret Gill, Robert Heiden, Betty Roscine Robinson, Helen Truesdale, and Henry Wilson. The guests were entertained by Robert Luthy and his Ensemble. The program was as follows: a jazz duet by Arthur Perham and Vern Dorman; an amusing Bowery Dance by Ruth Armstrong and Frances Schaeffer; readings by Gene Reid; a tap dance by Roderic Bush; a Gypsy number consisting of a song by a chorus made up of Virginia Carroll, Dorothy Hoffman, Violet Hofstetter, Mildred Johns, Helen Knickerbocker, Dolores Menssen, Elizabeth Roper, Alice Schriver, and Annabel Wickert; followed by a Gypsy dance by Allegra Jeck.

We are greatly indebted to our class advisers, Miss Carmen Morris and Mr. Harry E. Gobble; for without their aid we could never have successfully completed our first two years in Peoria High School.

FRESHMAN

Freshman Class History

NOW FOR the Freshman Class history! What? You say the Class of '33 hasn't any history? Well, we may not have much yet, but we've made a good start. Although not an organized class the first semester, we did organize during the second semester, but at the time of the writing of this history, officers had not yet been elected.

For getting us started and organized as a class, we are indebted to our advisers, Miss Nina Brown and Mr. Arthur Swanson. We take this opportunity to thank them, and tell them how much we appreciate their fine work.

In September, five hundred and twenty-eight Freshmen were wandering about the building, trying to find their rooms. The annex caused the most trouble, and many voices inquired where it was. Two hundred seventy of these wandering Freshmen were girls, and two hundred fifty-eight were boys. In February, seventy more entered, twenty-nine being girls and forty-one boys. After these entered, the September Freshmen did not feel quite so insignificant as before.

Advisers of Freshmen girls are the Misses Drysdale, Jones, Lamberton, G. McConnell, McWhinney, Nichols, Perdew, Philpot, Randall, and Smiley. The boys' advisers are the Messrs. Bockwitz, Buis, Deal, Gobble, A. H. McConnell, Shepherd, Stephens, Trimble, Troth, and Westhoff.

Some of our class have made a name for themselves in scholarship. Those who were on the "Shark" list for the first semester (that is, those who had at least three A's and one B for semester averages) are the following: Norma Huffstodt, Jane Peters, Hazel Sommer, Maxine Talbot, Louise Engstrom, Dorothy Roberts, Edith Hayes, Edith Turner, Elizabeth Roszell, Lillian Feigenbaum, Marian Gates, Elizabeth Spears, Joyce Martin, Catherine Murray, Marian Bartholomew, Julia Ann Carey, Velma Faner, Nancy Heidrich, Alice Smith, Minnie Weers, Mary Olive Mackemer, Margaret Inthurn, Mildred Harris, Katherine Ulrich, Robert Baker, Vernon Bedell, Herbert Kastein, Roger Phillips, Franklin Waltermire, Thomas Flannigan, Ernest Wiltz, Kenneth Bierly, Gus Stavropoulos, Mary Deyo, Catherine Fischer, Harriet Cook, and Caroline Seaton.

In athletics, a great deal of enthusiasm was shown by the entire class; and a number of Freshmen were members of the various athletic teams. Among these were Enoch Livengood, who received a letter in football; and Floyd Clymer, who also received a letter for his work on the cross-country team. In basketball, Lloyd Dent distinguished himself, playing several times on the regular team. An excellent Freshman Class basketball team was organized. Those on this team who received numerals were Hinton, Wallace, Livengood, Swords, Cole, and Dent. Clarence Hinton was a member of the football, basketball, and track squads. There were several Freshmen cheer leaders who did good work at the games.

Special recognition should go to Miss McWhinney's and Miss Nichol's advisory groups, for both banked one hundred per cent during the entire first semester. The class as a whole did not do so well in banking, our average being only forty per cent. However, we hope to do better.

Well, that's the Freshman Class history as far as it has gone, but you just wait: that same class will make some real history for good old P. H. S. before it's through.

"Here's to this splendid Freshman crowd;
Of them old Central can be proud."

THIS YEAR Student Council was composed of a selected, active, and conscientious group of students. Its president, Robert Gamble, has been a highly democratic, efficient, and versatile executive. Mr. Y. A. Heghin, the faculty adviser, was an inspiration to Council members with his never-ending supply of advice.

Committee chairmen of the Council include the following: Bruce Deobler, assemblies; Tom Coker, banking banners and campaigns; Adene Latta, point system and banking investigation; David Curtis, matriculation fee; Eloise Shaw, sanitation and grounds; Jean Coomber, "Maroon and Black." Jean Coomber, as vice-president of Council, was also chairman of the social committee, which included Hazel Davenport, Max Strawn, David Curtis, Marian Jones, Carolyn Meals, and Dorothy Davis.

Council had two fundamental purposes: (1) to raise the prestige and increase the powers of the Council; and (2) to render adequate and unselfish service to the office, faculty, and students, individually as well as collectively.

As a means to these ends, the following steps were taken: In order to keep an adequate record of all minutes, resolutions, and transactions, letter heads were printed, and a filing case and seal purchased. Each member was provided with a badge of honor. An elaborate Student Body Guard was organized, with its proper badges and necessary by-laws; and permission was given to this body to give eighth-hour conference slips when necessary. With the consent and co-operation of Mr. Brewer, several paid assemblies were furnished by the Council. A more complete and uniform election procedure for the Council and school organizations was established; and the constitution was revised and amended.

Student Council

THE FOLLOWING are the accomplishments of the Council in the field of service:

In order that the congestion in the halls might be relieved, and the traffic regulated, signs were put up everywhere, and a strenuous drive was carried on against the violators. Another drive in favor of cleanliness in the halls and on the school grounds was instituted. Several successful matinee and evening dances were sponsored. An effort was made to stimulate thrift and banking in the advisory groups and among the classes. At the beginning of both semesters, a book exchange was operated, which saved many students much money. A new and more complete "Maroon and Black" was published, for the purpose of furnishing the students with information about school activities.

In order that the democratic principles of the Council might be carried out, the presidential elections were conducted in regular form, a procedure to which the students responded splendidly. As a result of complaints and petitions from students, the Council, after due investigation, prepared an elaborate point system and submitted it to the principal for his approval. A tentative plan for a matriculation fee was worked out, which will enable the students and school organizations to save money, and yet to enjoy all school activities which call for money. With the consent of Mr. Brewer, Council took the initiative of asking the Board of Education to give us a separate band instructor. It also carried the matter to the Parent-Teacher Association, and succeeded in obtaining a promise of action to be taken next fall. Finally, Council, through its secretary, checked the names of sick students each week, and wrote them letters of sympathy and condolence.

Student Bodyguard

THE STUDENT Prefect system, which has existed at Peoria High School for almost a decade, was reorganized by the Student Council at the beginning of the second semester this year, and the Student Bodyguard of Peoria High School was formed. This system is composed of a magistrate, a pretorian, seven captains, and twenty-eight prefects. There are six boy captains and one girl captain, each having charge of four prefects, elected according to the by-laws. Officers for this year were: Magistrate, Robert Hart; Pretorian, Bill Kannapel; Captains, Marvin Breed, Robert Galvin, Glenn Kidder, David Miller, Arthur Reichelderfer, Joe Rogers, and Scherrill Schlatter.

The Bodyguard system was explained in an assembly, in charge of President Robert Gamble of the Student Council, and Magistrate Robert Hart. It was impressed upon the students that the new system could be a complete success only if it were given the full co-operation of the entire student body.

The members of the Bodyguard took charge at all places where no teachers had jurisdiction. They endeavored to keep the halls, stairs, and school grounds clean and orderly; and to enforce the school constitution and all laws and rules passed by the Student Council. They ushered at all matinee and evening performances when called upon; they carried notices for the office; and they took charge of the primary and final elections for president of the school. To those who deliberately violated school laws after being warned, the prefects gave conference slips.

The aim of this new system has been to develop, through democratic channels, habits of service to the school, and obedience to the Council and school laws.

Secretary - - - - - -	ALICE APPELL
Treasurer - - - - - -	BARBARA HERSHE

TO BELONG to Charvice is the goal toward which every girl strives during her high school days. It is the girls' honorary society of the school, characterized by ideals of service, character, loyalty, and friendliness. The girls are chosen by a faculty board, from names submitted by the entire faculty. The sponsors are Miss Wilde, Miss Hayes, Miss Wilson, Miss Boynton, Miss Coppock, and Miss Ottenheimer.

This year Charvice had a doughnut sale to raise money to pay for the club picture in the Crest. Adene Latta, who sold forty-six dozen, was awarded the prize for selling the greatest number of dozen.

The girls are initiated at a party given at some member's home. This initiation is held three times during the school year. First there is a very impressive formal initiation, a feature of which is a beautiful candlelight service. This is followed by a spread, and then the informal initiation.

The duties of the Charvice girls are to take charge of the Lost and Found Department, to assist Miss Fisher in the library, and to be of service to the school in any way which they can.

THE Social Science Club has completed one of its most successful years under the leadership of Mr. Heghin, its sponsor, supported by the entire Social Science faculty.

The club has had a very active and interested membership. The programs have been wholly instructive, with debates and outside speakers. Among the talks were: "Thinking," by Rev. Vernon Cooke; "Materialism," by Mr. Dirksen; "A Bicycle Trip through Europe," by Chi Gamble; and "Know Illinois" slides and an accompanying talk by Mr. Bair. "The Pathfinder," the club's own magazine, has been a progressive periodical with the co-operation of sponsors and members. Those chiefly responsible for its publication are Alice Appell, editor; Hazel Davenport and Louise Bryan, associate editors; and Myrtle Clauson, typist.

The club made its annual instructive trip to Springfield to visit Lincoln's Tomb and the Capitol. In May, the annual picnic was held at Fondulac Park.

The chairmen of the committees for the year were: program, Barbara Off; membership, Loren Grannis; and social, Max Strawn.

President	JOHN ZIEGELE
Vice-President	ROBERT CLINE
Secretary	VIRGINIA THOMAS
Treasurer	MAX STRAWN
Sergeant-at-arms	ROBERT HART
Sponsor	ARTHUR L. EPSTEIN

THE SCIENCE and Math Club is the oldest school organization. It was established in the old high school on Darwin's birthday, February 12, 1908. When the school was moved to the present building, the club was reorganized as it is now. Its purpose, to give scientific knowledge in an interesting way, has been successfully maintained through the full co-operation of students and members of the Science faculty, Miss Kinhofer, Mr. Sammis, Mr. Shepherd, Mr. Shields, Mr. Stephens, and Mr. Sommer.

The programs are furnished mainly by the students, with occasional talks or demonstrations by members of the Science faculty. Some of the topics that have been discussed are: the Aurora, Meteorites, Anaesthetics, biographies of noted scientists, as Galileo and Mendljeff, lectures on the Slide Rule and static electricity, besides numerous experiments.

The club has become a member of the Junior Academy of Science and was the host to the first annual convention of that body held here on May 8 and 9.

French Club

OFFICERS

President	DOROTHY DAVIS
Vice President	RUTH HEPBURN
Secretary	LOUISE BRYAN
Treasurer	GEORGE HAMILTON

UNDER THE capable sponsorship of Miss Bunch, Fleur de Lys has just finished an unusually interesting and successful year.

The requirements for membership in the French Club have been changed so that now anyone who has had one year of French may belong, regardless of his grades and of whether he is at present enrolled in a French class.

The purpose of the meetings, which are conducted entirely in French, is to stimulate an interest in and liking for French.

Programs this year have been varied, and included pencil golf, illustrated talks about France, singing of French songs, and to close the year, a dinner at the Women's City Club, conducted entirely in French.

In accordance with the annual custom of the club, a play was produced, entirely in French. "Cherchez la Femme," which was written and directed by Miss Bunch, and enacted by an unusually talented cast, was given first as an afternoon production for the club members and Freshmen who were interested in studying French, and then on March 18 for the Parent-Teachers' Association.

English Club

Secretary	ALICE APPELL
Treasurer	MARIAN JONES

THE English Club, one of the most interesting organizations in our school, is composed of Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores with "A" or "B" averages.

Its purpose is to stimulate interest in literature, composition, drama, public speaking, and pantomime.

The programs this year have been very interesting. They have been composed of readings, poems, musical selections, and speeches by members of the club, and pantomimes by members of the Public Speaking classes. At one meeting Miss Clausen gave us a charming talk about the Passion Play at Oberammergau; at another, Mr. Browning from the Peoria Public Library gave us an interesting and instructive discussion of the changes in the library within the last thirty years. According to the custom of the club, the year was closed with a picnic.

Much of our success has been due to the co-operation and helpful interest of our sponsor, Mrs. Belsley.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB has just finished its eighth successful year of activity under the able sponsorship of Mrs. Wisman, Miss Bullock, and Mr. Troth. Mrs. Wisman has sponsored the club since its beginning, and has done much to make it the success it now is.

The club is open to all Juniors and Seniors taking commercial subjects. The enrollment this year consisted of eighty-six members.

The Commercial Club is one of the most active clubs in Peoria High School. Its members are bound together by a common interest—the business world. Through this club the students become better acquainted with the methods used in the business offices.

The meetings, conducted on the third Monday of each month, are carried on with various programs and entertainments. At one meeting Mrs. Shirer of the Personnel department of Clarke and Company gave a very interesting talk on "How to Be a Success in the Business World."

Commercial Club

At another meeting Miss Reed, Business and Professional Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., gave a very helpful and entertaining talk on "Preparing Yourself for your Wok and your Life." Modern business appliances will be demonstrated later on, so that the student will be familiar with them when he enters an office.

The club is also noted for its social activities. In October, a Hallowe'en masquerade was held in Swords' barn on the Farmington Road. Various games were played and fortunes told, and then the crowd was entertained by Mardelle Mohn, who played several popular numbers on her piano-accordion. With the lights turned low, and to the tune of the howling wind, Stewart White gave the impressive reading, "The Cremation of Sam McGee." Mr. Claude Trimble also entertained with a dance to the "St. Louis Blues." Prizes were awarded to the boy and girl having the best costume. Later on, a Hallowe'en luncheon was served, consisting of cider, doughnuts, apples, and candy. Everyone had loads of fun, and the party was a great success.

The students of the whole school, as well as the members of the Commercial Club, are looking forward to a skating party which will be held in April. The skating party is an annual event of the club, and is open to all the school.

The Commercial Club has given many of the pictures that are hanging in the Commercial rooms. It has also given the two phonographs being used in the typing rooms for rhythm typing.

And thus the Commercial Club has added another successful year to its history.

"THROUGH all the ages time has shown us that together we can do things which alone we cannot do."

Tri-S girls stand united in a common purpose—"to face life squarely, to find and give the best." This Girl Reserve club each year invites all Freshman and Sophomore girls to join and assist in serving our school.

Our activities have included: a jolly "mixer" party; a beautiful recognition service; the impressive Christmas vespers; discussion-meetings with such subjects as "Race Prejudices"; our Valentine and World Fellowship luncheons; and our interest groups. In our service work we entertained the children at the Day Nursery each week and gave a party for them at Christmas time.

Much of our success during the year has been due to the help and leadership of Miss Frances Vander Linden, our Girl Reserve secretary, and to our faculty advisers, Miss Lamberton and Miss Iler.

"TO HAVE a friend you must first be a friend." In order to carry out this slogan, Sr. Tri-S invited all Junior and Senior girls to a mass meeting at the beginning of the year.

Sr. Tri-S is sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. and has the same purpose as Jr. Tri-S.

Many interesting events were on the club program. In the fall the girls sold candy at the games. The delegates who went to conference at Camp Grey gave splendid reports. At a joint meeting with Hi-Y, the subject, "Boy and Girl Relationships," was discussed. Christmas vespers, a Valentine luncheon, and a World Fellowship luncheon were held with other clubs. In February, interests groups began at the "Y." A Hi-Y and Tri-S Treasure Hunt was held on March 20, and everyone had a good time. The lovely Easter vesper service was given with the aid of Miss Frances Vander Linden, Y.W.C.A. secretary, and Miss Florence Giles and Miss Lucille Waltmire, advisers of Sr. Tri-S. To close the year, a Mother-Daughter luncheon was held at the "Y" in May.

Vice President	ROBERT LUTHY
Secretary	HOWARD TURNBULL
Treasurer	JIMMIE RAFFERTY
Faculty Sponsors	C. F. BOCKWITZ, J. B. SOMMER

THE JUNIOR HI-Y, a newly formed organization of Peoria High School, is open to any Freshman or Sophomore boy who agrees to live up to its purposes, namely:

1. To establish higher and better ideals of living.
2. To establish closer companionship among Freshmen and Sophomores.
3. To bring us in closer communication with Jesus, our Savior.

The meetings are held every other Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. and consist of a business session, followed by an open discussion, or by speakers, who have interesting subjects. Among the speakers this year have been Mr. Trimble; Mr. Burns, who spoke on the World War; and Reverend Oliver, who discussed the colored race. Occasionally moving pictures are shown at the meetings, and sometimes a ping-pong tournament, or a swim in the "Y" pool, follows the meeting.

During this year, although most of the time has been taken up with the routine of the organization, the Junior Hi-Y has experienced real benefits from the ideals set forth in its purposes.

Being under the joint supervision of the school and the Y. M. C. A., the Junior Hi-Y strives to better conditions both around the school and in the community.

Faculty Sponsor - - - -	MR. BARLOGA

THE SENIOR HI-Y Club is an organization which operates in conjunction with the high school and the Y. M. C. A. It is one which tends to strengthen the physical, mental, and spiritual sides of a boy's life.

Membership is open to any Senior or Junior boy who is willing to live up to the Hi-Y purposes: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character"; and support the Hi-Y platform: Clean Sports, Clean Habits, Clean Speech, and Clean Thoughts.

The Club meets every other Monday evening at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:30 o'clock. The meetings are divided between discussions and outside speakers who try to help boys solve their many modern and characteristic problems.

The past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the club with a membership of forty and an average attendance of twenty-five at meetings. A combined discussion with the Sr. Tri-S Club was held in the fall and a Treasure Hunt in the spring. In addition, sixty dollars was made from candy sales at football games and by sponsoring a performance by "Marquis the Magician."

Secretary-Treasurer - - - - ELIZABETH ALBRIGHT
Sponsor - - - - - - - EARL ENGLISH

UNDER THE supervision of Mr. Earl English, journalism instructor, the Henry M. Pindell Chapter of Quill and Scroll, International Honor Society for High School Journalists, enjoyed the most active year in the history of the local chapter.

At the initial meeting of the year, the club decided to connect the name of some noted journalist to its title. The name of Henry M. Pindell, who was a former publisher of The Peoria Journal-Transcript, and whose bust was recently placed in the Illinois Hall of Fame, was chosen. A constitution written by members of the organization was also studied and adopted.

An interesting contest was sponsored by the club: a silver cup was awarded to the writer of the best feature story published in the Opinion during the first semester. The award was made to C. Verne Bloch. Bob Ellis, Bruce Deobler, and Adene Latta, members of the Peoria High chapter, won first, second, and honorable mention, respectively, in a national news contest sponsored by the society.

Taking advantage of the right to induct honorary members, the student journalists chose the two judges of the feature contest, Edgar R. Bowen, editor of The Transcript, and Chi Gamble, columnist of The Star, as the only adult members.

Debating Club

OFFICERS

Vice President	WILMA BOMAN
Secretary	ALICE SCHRIVER
Treasurer	ROBERT LUTHY

THE DEBATING CLUB has completed a most profitable year, owing to the tireless efforts of Mr. Owen and Mr. Gobble, the faculty advisers, and the co-operation of the student members.

This year we enrolled in the Jacksonville speech contest for women at McMurray College, and entered the Big Twelve Contest. In the district meet we took first place over Manual, debating on the subject, "Resolved that chain stores are a detriment to the community." The affirmative team was composed of Alice Schriver, Joe Allen, and Marjorie Meixner; the negative team included Janet Braun, Mary Louise Dilworth, and Rena Boyle.

We enjoyed many interesting programs, skillfully planned and executed by Cecile Look, chairman of the program committee. One program was presented to the student body in assembly: a debate on the interesting question, "Resolved that men have contributed more to civilization than women." The affirmative team, consisting of John Foster and Robert Luthy, won out over the negative side, defended by Alice Schriver and Cecile Look.

Although our club is not as large as some of the other organizations in school, we feel that we have brought honor to Peoria High School this year.

The Peoria High School Band

AS THERE are not enough players either in Manual or Central to form separate bands, the two bands are combined until one school has sufficient instrumentation to form a separate band.

The officers of the Peoria High School band are: President, Robert Bush; Vice-President, George Landon; Secretary-Treasurer, Kenneth Fitschen; Librarian, Robert Jacobs.

In January, 1924, the first combined high school band was organized under the supervision of Mr. Irving Bradley. This will be the last year in which the band will play as a combined organization, and its members wish to thank Mr. Bradley for his kind and loyal services.

Two outstanding events were enjoyed by this organization during its fourth year. The band, then consisting of forty-eight members, was directed by the Marine Band leader, Captain Branson, and also by John Philip Sousa, who presented the band with a silver loving cup. This same year it entered the Illinois District Band contest and was very successful, especially in solos.

The band entered the contest the following year, winning third place in the Class A division and first place in the Big Twelve Contest. The soloists took four firsts and two seconds, also one third place in the National Contest.

During the year 1929-1930, the band again won recognition. The soloists did exceptionally well, placing four firsts and three seconds. George Landon, clarinetist, won the National High School championship. This year the combined band and nine soloists will go to Champaign for the contest.

Orchestra

THE ORCHESTRAS of Peoria High School have had an extremely busy and active year. This branch of musical activity furnishes excellent experience for amateur musicians, as well as a great deal of pleasure. There are three orchestras in the school: the beginners' orchestra, directed by Mr. Irving Bradley; the advanced orchestra, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Randall; and the combined orchestra, consisting of members of the advanced orchestras of Peoria High and Manual High. This is also under the direction of Mr. Bradley.

The combined orchestra played for the annual vesper service given at the Shrine Temple in honor of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, and was also heard at various social functions. The organization also gave several concerts during the year, including one at each of the high schools.

During the first semester, the members of the advanced orchestra spent much time in preparing the music for the operetta, "The Lucky Jade," given in December. Under the competent direction of Miss Randall, they contributed greatly to the success of this production. Incidentally, their work in "The Lucky Jade" was a source of great enjoyment to all the members of the orchestra.

They gained quite a favorable reputation playing before and during intermissions at the Senior Class play, "The Patsy." They were also heard at "The Left-Overs," Jusendra's evening play, and at the performances of "Marquis, the Magician," brought to the school under the auspices of the Hi-Y. The culmination of a successful season came when the orchestra had the honor of playing at a banquet of the Senior Academy of Science in May.

THE MUSIC CLUB was reorganized in the fall of 1930 by its sponsors, Miss Randall and Miss Smiley. Anyone who is interested in music is eligible for membership.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in, and appreciation of, music. The meetings, which are held once a month, have proved very successful. Mrs. Smiley entertained the club at its first meeting with a group of vocal selections. Miss Randall sang a number of Christmas songs at the December program. For the January meeting Miss Burkhalter gave a very interesting talk on her stay at Bayreuth, Germany. At the other meetings student members of the club contributed in various ways to the programs.

In May the Music Club presented a program for the Music Club of Manual. The students who took part were David Curtis, Wayne Matheny, Leila Williams, Martha Baymiller, Jean Coomber, and Robert Bush.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB, a very new organization, was started this year by its sponsors. Miss Boynton, Miss Wilson, Miss Nichols, Miss Bibo, and Miss Drysdale. The meetings are held the first Monday of the month, and are for all girls in the Home Economics department.

The purpose of the club is to form a connecting link between home and school, and to train young women for active and efficient leadership in the home and community. In the meetings, topics pertaining to home life are discussed by students, or by outside speakers who are authorities on their subjects.

The girls have carried out many philanthropic projects this year. At Christmas time they gave a basket to a family of six, a party to a group of twenty-five girls at the Neighborhood House, one hundred pop corn balls to the Home of the Friendless, and twenty generously filled stockings to the Journal-Transcript Red Stocking Club.

National Honor Society

THE National Honor Society was organized here in 1924. Each year new members have been taken in under very strict selection. For the last three years, the members have been taken in under the new method, whereby those ranking in the upper third of their class in scholarship are considered with regard to the three qualities, service, leadership, and character, for which the society stands.

At the close of last year, seven Juniors were elected to carry over the society. These were: Martha Baymiller, Fred Bourland, Jean Coomber, Hazel Davenport, Lucy Frances Day, Robert Gamble, and Catherine McClelland.

The Seniors elected this year are: Elizabeth Albright, Alice Appell, Lois Bacon, Betty Bartholomew, Max Bass, May Bell, Barbara Blome, Louise Bryan, Myrtle Clauson, Bessie Cohen, Tom Coker, Dorothy Davis, Bruce Deobler, Ted Durfee, Eleanor Easton, Alice Findley, Jane Hercules, Barbara Hershe, Gladys Hewitt, Gerald Hornbacker, Lucille Jacobs, Madeleine Johnson, Marian Jones, Betty Joy, William Kannapel, Adene Latta, Cecile Look, Robert Mandelkorn, Richard Mannschott, Mardelle Mohn, Don Morgan, Charles Murray, Lillie Newberg, Jean Newlin, Barbara Off, Clara Reese, Josephine Rice, Ferrel Saas, Scherrill Schlatter, Max Strawn, Louise Sumner, Virginia Thomas, Genevieve Ulrich, Wanda Wahl, Herbert Walton, Roberta Wessel, Maurice Winters, Russell Ziegle.

The faculty council consists of Miss Coppock, Miss Hayes, Mr. McCormick, Miss McConnell, and Mr. Williams.

Dramatic Honor Society

FIVE YEARS ago, the Dramatic Honor Society of Peoria High School was organized by Jusendra. Members of the faculty chose those eligible to membership according to their interpretation, enunciation, and impression upon the audience. The scope of the organization has been broadened to include those who have done exceptional work in any plays given by school organizations.

The officers are: president, Wayne Matheny; vice-president, Joe Rogers; treasurer, Leila Williams; and secretary, Frances Beyer. Miss Ellen Drysdale is the sponsor of the organization.

Members who were elected last year are: Virginia Aaron, Lawrence Armour, Fred Bourland, Paul Clay, Jean Coomber, Robert Gamble, Robert Hart, Gladys Hewitt, Gerald Hornbacker, Richard Mannschott, Wayne Matheny, Charles Murray, Jean Newlin, and John Ziegele.

Twenty-one students have been chosen this year from the various productions given during the year. From the Senior Class play, "The Patsy," Stewart White, Virl Starkey, Ruth Straesser, and Ed Weinstein were elected. Those chosen from the operetta, "The Lucky Jade," were Lucy Frances Day, Leila Williams, Martha Baymiller, Mary Laura Roszell, Joe Rogers, Art Reichelderfer, and Dave Straesser. Vashti Heinlin was selected from the cast of "The Florist Shop," and Josephine Rice from "Good Medicine." Selection of Sheila Stone and Rosamond Clark was made from the French play, "Cherchez la Femme." Frances Beyer was chosen from "Masque of the Two Strangers," and Louis Hirsch and Albert Siepert from "Bargains in Cathay." The newest members are Miles Trenton, Goldie Dennison, and Iona Harshbarger, from the Jusendra evening play, "The Left Overs."

Movie Crew

THE Movie Crew has again enjoyed a very successful year. Mr. Epstein, the faculty adviser, deserves a great deal of credit, for he has coached the operators until they are expert in their work.

The crew consisted of John Ziegele, chief operator; James Rainey, assistant; and two cubs, Hugh McElhiney and Ross Hagel. Fred Bourland is in charge of publicity.

One feature movie, "The Isle of Lost Ships," was given after school, and several short educational subjects were given in assemblies. In addition to the moving picture work, the movie crew operates the spot-lights for various occasions, such as the operetta, Jusendra plays, and assemblies.

Our projection booth is well equipped, having a Motiograph Machine (electrically operated), of two thousand foot capacity, a stereoptican, and several spot-lights, both arc and incandescent. Operators who have visited our booth are eloquent in their praise of the ventilating facilities and fire-proof construction. The booth is equipped with a fire-proof humidor to keep the film pliable, and to protect it in case of fire. It has been proven by tests that in case of accident, the arc light would not ignite the film for twenty-three seconds, so well is it shielded. This is ample time in which to remove it. Because of the fire-proof construction of the booth, the audience is always safe.

The movie crew handles all stereoptican work in the auditorium, such as song slides at assemblies and teachers' institutes, and special illustrated lectures. The crew is small in numbers, but plays an important part in the extra-curricular activities of the school.

Stage Crew

THE PERFORMANCES and assemblies that have been executed on the Peoria High stage this past year would not have been so successful if there had not been an experienced and willing stage crew behind the scenes to set the stage and make preparations for the productions.

The members of the crew, the chairman, and the advisers have spent many valuable hours on the stage, working after school, before school, on holidays, and on Saturdays. When a performance is over, and the actors leave the stage, relieved that their work is over, very often the members of the stage crew are kept busy for several hours, putting the stage in readiness for the next event.

Mr. Robert Sedgwick, chairman of the crew, has very efficiently directed the members of the crew in all their activities. Mr. Sedgwick is assisted by Mr. Arthur Swanson. There has been no student chairman this year; thus the whole burden of the work has fallen to the lot of the faculty advisers.

The crew this year was made up of all new boys, with the exception of Neal and Blandford Turner and Warner Johnson. Special mention should be made of Neal Turner, who has worked alone on the switch board.

The scenery shifts and settings of the stage have been skillfully attended to by Warner Johnson, Blandford Turner, John Foster, Robert Lynch, and Dick Mohr. All the boys have worked together as a unit, and by this co-operation the best results possible have been obtained.

The crew has helped in the successful staging of "The Lucky Jade," "Left-Overs," "The Patsy," "Try Outs," "Bargains in Cathay," "The Masque of the Two Strangers," "The Love Cure," "Marquis, the Magician," and others.

THIS HAS been one of the busiest and most successful years that G. A. A. has ever had. The membership has increased; and we have had tournaments in many of the sports; for, during the year, we participated in volley-ball, basketball, baseball, tennis, and track.

A pin is given for three hundred points, a letter for six hundred, and a star on the letter for eight hundred. A large number of these awards were given. Many of the G. A. A. girls can be seen around school wearing letters.

Although G. A. A., as shown by its name, is mainly an athletic club, there is also the social side. In the fall we had a hike and wiener roast. In December a Christmas party and mock initiation was held. It was at this meeting that the Freshmen were initiated in an exciting and mysterious, yet harmless way.

The purpose of our organization is to further interest in athletics among girls, and we hope our membership will continue to grow.

"BARGAINS IN CATHAY"

This one act comedy was coached by Miss Carmen Morris. The scene takes place in the book department of a large store. The play deals with the struggle of a young poet to make his father realize that poets make as much money as business men. The poet and the young and attractive book clerk carry on the love element very successfully.

"MASQUE OF THE TWO STRANGERS"

The beauty of this one act masque depended largely on the attractive setting, the artistic singing and dancing, and the skilful interpretation of the spoken lines. The play was under the direction of Miss Ina Pearl Nichols. The story is that of a princess held in a magic spell by Sorrow. She allows her life to be blighted by this, in spite of the entreaties of her youthful companions, and even the pleadings of Fame, Power, and Wealth. Finally, when the Prince of Love reveals his powers, her sorrow is banished, and sunshine reigns at court.

JUSENDRA MATINEE

NOVEMBER THIRTEENTH

"TRY-OUTS," a musical comedy in two parts, was written and staged under the general direction of Miss Janet Buswell and Mr. Huber Sammis, assisted by Miss Auguste Reinhard. The theme running through the revue was that of the four seasons, and there were four theme songs, "Fall," "Winter," "Spring," and "Summer," written by Martha Baymiller. These songs were introduced by Ward Eastman, the comedian, and interpreted by a chorus of twenty-four people. Others in the cast included George Johnson, as stage manager; Barbara Off, as wardobe mistress; and Bob Sayles, as "Props," assisted by the Peoria High stage crew.

Part I: acrobatic dance, Luellen Julien; negro comedy skit, Bob Calkins and Ross Carlton; "Peoria High Warriors," Berniece Hall's chorus; novelty dance, Barbara Cutter; dance duet, Margaret Waggoner and Harriet Foster; fall comedy skit, Don Klein and Virl Starkey; vocal solo, Wayne Matheny.

Part II: comedy ballet, Gene Mouser and Jack Gable; French song, Patricia Braun; "Try Dancing," Lucy Frances Day's chorus; vocal solo, Ward Eastman; "Hullaballoo," Jeanne Christian's chorus; dance duet, "Kiss Waltz," Herbert Walton and Betty Bartholomew; tap dances by the Dockstader Trio, Edna Bouton and Jack Gable, Armand Flocken, and Roderic Bush, the latter accompanied by Charles Barnes, banjoist.

Standing: Braun, Harshbarger, Trenton.
Seated: Siepert, Wilton, Dennison, Sommer, Hershe, Markgraf, Taylor.

THAT THE 1931 Crest may be a success is the fondest hope of each member of the staff. Toward that goal every one has worked, and it has been most gratifying to know that behind us was a student body and faculty that was "all for us."

We wish to thank all those who have assisted the staff. The lovely art work is partially due to the group of art students who assisted the Art Editor. This group includes Lois Maurer, Jack Palmer, Mary Berry, Margaret Lord, Bertha Meneley, Madeline Johnson, Eugenia Hackbarth, Barbara Blome, Kenneth Goldenstein, and Emmabelle Wright. Martha Baymiller helped the Senior Editor compose the clever captions under the Seniors' names; Stewart White worked on the faculty captions; and Roberta Wessel helped with the features. Our business managers received a great deal of help from Ted Durfee, Ward Eastman, Bob Taylor, and Carl Herrmann in selling advertising. Our photographer was assisted by Frank Gillette and Harold Cupp. In the Classes division of the book, the Freshman write-up was done jointly by Lois Dunmire, Jean Dickison, and Marguerite Goodman; Betty Bourland was responsible for the Sophomore Class history; and Edith Adele Lowry for the Junior write-up. Miss Janet Buswell was responsible for the clever assembly inaugurating the Crest campaign, as a result of which 1,000 books were sold.

The 1931 staff was an exceptionally fine one. Special mention should be made of our photographer, Lawrence Armour, who did unusually fine work; and of the Art Editor, Lois Bacon, who with the aid of the art students is responsible for the beautiful drawings in the book. One of her helpers, Lois Maurer, did the attractive lettering on the snapshot pages. A great deal of recognition is due our advisers, who have helped the staff in innumerable ways.

Although the editing of our book has meant much time and hard work, we have all enjoyed it, and hope that the 1931 Crest will live up to last year's book, which won an Honor Rating from the National Scholastic Press Association, and a Distinguished Rating Award from the Illinois High School Press Association.

The Opinion

THE Opinion, the official news organ of Peoria High School for forty-two years, and a weekly newspaper for six years, has many achievements to its credit during the course of the year 1930-31.

The advertising has been increased. About forty per cent of the paper was advertising, the rest being used for news. The circulation was increased this year to 1529 paid subscriptions, the largest number the paper has ever had. A combination ticket consisting of the Opinion, assemblies, and football was sold for $1.10.

Through the courtesy of Henry Ziegle Co., Inc., the Opinion was printed downtown this year. However, the type was set and the pages were made up in the press room as before by the printing class.

A distinguished rating was received in November at the Illinois State High School Press Association. In March, recognition was received in the third place division of Class A, a class consisting of papers printed in schools with enrollments of 1,500 or more, in the Columbia Press Association's national contest.

New columns which appeared on the standardized editorial page were the Principal's column, Literary Highlights, Schools in Other Lands, Out of the Past, Diary of a Graduate, and When I Was in School, written by parents of pupils now in school. Locker Slams, written by Bruce Deobler, appeared on the sports page. For the first time there has been exclusive use of cartoons drawn by the staff artist, Ralph Ellis. Dummies were used this year for each page lay-out.

At Christmas time ten pages were printed. During the year five six-page editions were published. On March 19, small Opinion extras were circulated after the presidential election.

The editorial staff, under the supervision of Mr. Earl English, journalism instructor, consisted of Adene Latta, editor; Elizabeth Albright, associate editor; and an enthusiastic staff of reporters. Russell Ziegle was the business manager; Walker Pierce, advertising manager; and David Harris, assistant. Other members of the staff were Bruce Deobler, sports editor; Kenneth Mercer, circulation manager; Lawrence Armour, staff photographer; and Maynard Steeg, in charge of mailing.

The columnists included Betty Joy, literary editor; Dorothy Kinser, "Seen in the Shops"; Evabeth Miller, "Diary of a Graduate"; Patricia Braun, "Schools in Other Lands"; Ed. Kilgus, humor editor; and Melba Evans and Virginia Brown, society and alumni editors, respectively.

Those who worked on Thursday nights in making up pages were known as the "Black Hole Gang," and included Kenneth Mercer, Ralph Lewis, Adene Latta, Paul Naffziger, Elizabeth Albright, Arthur Loomis, Maynard Steeg, Russell Ziegle, Howell Uhlig, Walker Pierce, and William McGee. Robert Ellis, post graduate the first semester, was copyreader and wrote headlines.

Through its news, which the Opinion has tried to base on accuracy, fairness, and honesty; through its advertisements and attractive typography; the Opinion has striven to exemplify a good high school publication read by an enthusiastically interested student body and faculty, and praised by outside critics.

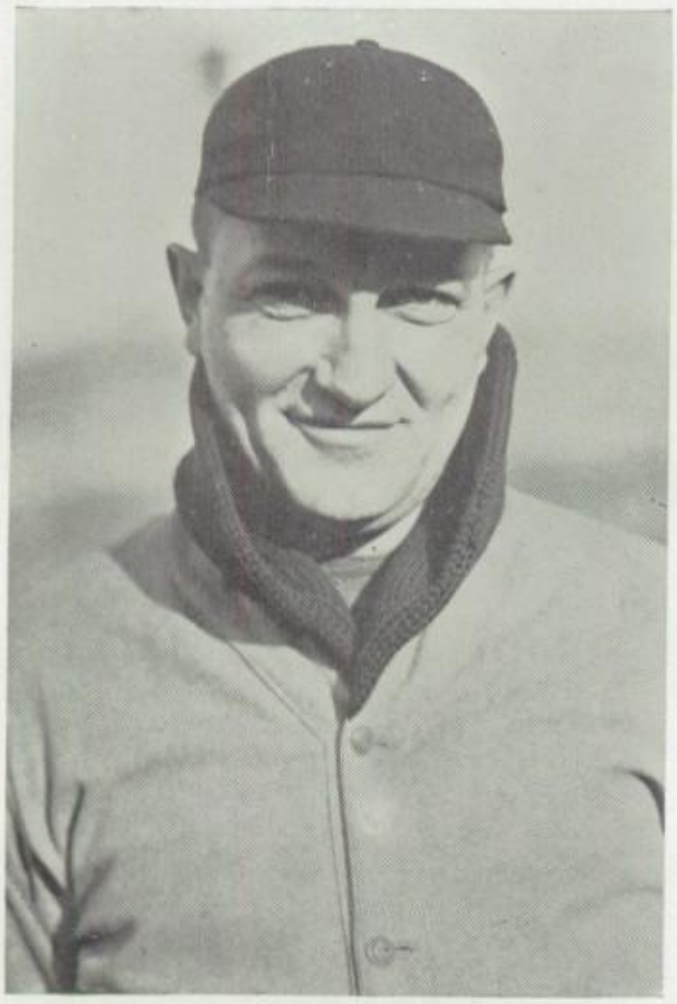
Directors of Athletics



COACH SALEN HERKE

Director of Athletics

Coach Salen "Doc" Herke has just completed his fifteenth year as the Athletic Director of Peoria Central. "Doc" has raised Central to prominence and has made her a factor to be reckoned with in athletics. Coach Herke not only has to take charge of the boys' gym classes during the day, but also stays many long hours after school putting his boys through their paces. All through the long campaigns, he has his players in mind so that he does not leave his problems when he leaves school. It does not seem possible that Central could exist without "Doc," so here's long life to both of them with continued success.

CLAUDE TRIMBLE

Assistant Coach

Coach Claude Trimble is a "Big Man" from the South. This is his first year with us, and he is very welcome. He has made himself indispensable to "Doc," whom he aids in gym work. Previously "Doc" has had no official helper, and he found it quite a job to handle the boys alone. Trimble made a big hit with the boys because of his wit and his optimistic attitude. He also scored a bull's eye with the female population of the school because of his curly hair and that Southern accent. His debut as a public speaker proved to us that the old P. H. S. spirit is very catching. We are glad to have you with us, Trimble. May your years be many and happy ones!

Ward Eastman

Loren Grannis

Football Captains

WARD EASTMAN, Quarterback

Central's squad was led by two gallant lads this season, Co-Captains Ward Eastman and Loren Grannis. These two were the only experienced varsity men from last season's team, and their knowledge of the game was invaluable to this year's "green" squad.

Ward occupied the berths of quarterback and halfback with equal ability, and his knowledge of football tactics won us many a game. He had that cool head and quick eye that are so necessary for a successful quarterback. This asset of "Wardy's" saved us from a possible tie in the last quarter of the Turkey Day game.

LOREN GRANNIS, Center

Loren held down the center position and was the key man of our line. His brawniness helped him to tear open large gaps in the enemy's line as well as to act as a stone wall on the defense. His fighting school spirit inspired all those with whom he played and made him a fine leader.

Both of these boys leave us this year, and they indeed have the right to feel that they have accomplished something; for without their splendid example, the 1930 squad would not have developed into such a sportsman-like group of players.

"Ace" Ames
Halfback

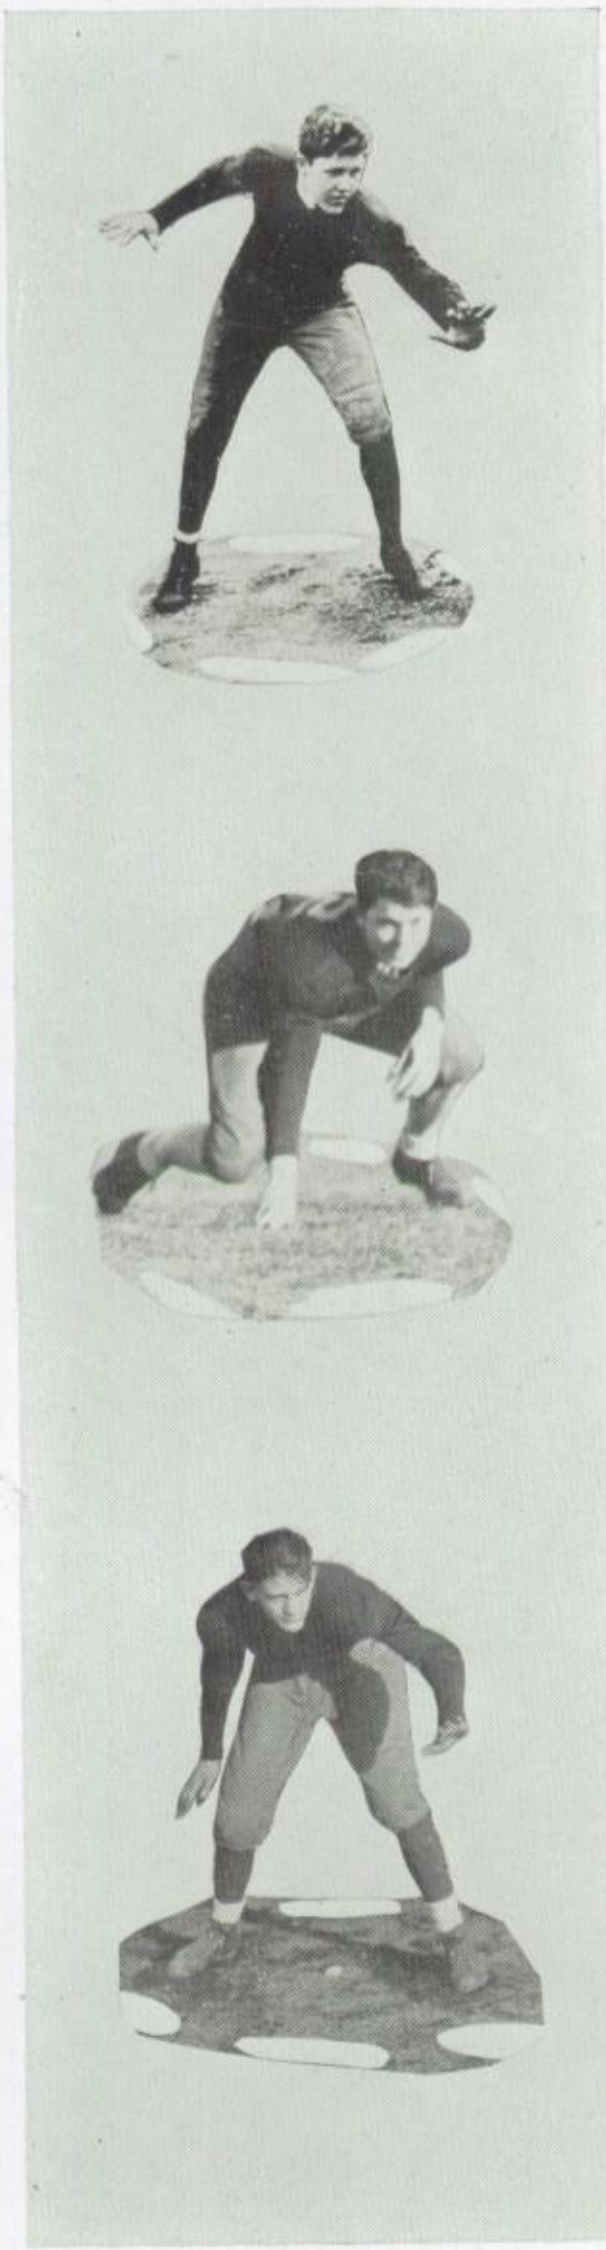
"Ace" was the dark horse of our squad this year. He got a slow start, but he changed as if by magic into one of our flashiest backs. His was the ability to punt, pass, charge hard, and tackle clean and low.

Enoch Livengood
End

This little fellow is the first Freshman to receive his football letter since the days of Page. He showed unusual ability on the defense and should develop into an excellent player in his future seasons.

John Sheahan
End

"Johnny" was a hard charging but shifty end whose best playing was done on the defense in turning in plays. He had the "knack" of completely baffling the opponent blockers. "Johnny" will be a very valuable man to next year's squad.



Football

The Maroon team suffered from a heavy loss of lettermen with the graduation of 1930, and the outlook for this season's team was rather poor. Only two lettermen returned, Ward Eastman and Loren Grannis, and around these two an entirely new combination had to be built. Fortunately, candidates were plentiful, and "Doc" found material well worth developing; so with "dame luck" on our side a winning combination was produced.

But "old lady luck" couldn't do it all alone. It took plenty of hard work, practice, drill, grit—and P. H. S. spirit. The fellows took their work seriously and "plugged" away until the machine functioned smoothly; then they set a record that any team could envy. Every night after school the P. H. S. warriors could be seen out on the athletic field going through their paces, and they surely did not strive in vain.

We're certainly proud of the '30 squad; although they worked under difficulties, they came out on top with flying colors. The lettermen who played their last football for P. H. S. this year were John Peer, "Bob" Claude, "Kenny" Ames, "Bob"

Summary

Ross, Aaron Baumflek, Charles Barnes, Lester Smith, "Bob" Mandelkorn, "Herb" Walton, Charles White, and Vernon Wolland.

CENTRAL-KINGMAN

In the first game of the season, the Maroons displayed a surprising amount of skill and strength for such a "green" team. With comparative ease the Central warriors defeated Kingman High School by the overwhelming score of 42-0. It was just a case of a weak team trying to stop the drives of a larger and stronger one, and Central's inexperienced combination gained valuable knowledge from this encounter.

CENTRAL-LINCOLN

On one of the hottest days of fall, the Maroon warriors, accompanied by a host of loyal followers, journeyed to Lincoln to encounter one of the finest teams in the Big Twelve. "The Railsplitters" displayed a baffling amount of strength and alertness, and humbled the Maroons by a 20-0 score. It seemed that the Centralites could not offset the march of the huge Lincoln squad, and although they rallied in

"Bob" Ross

Fullback

"Bob" was our safety valve on a fourth down. His punts were long and true; not only could he punt well, but he was also an excellent ball carrier and defensive back.

"Phil" Oakley

Fullback

"Phil" was a boy with an educated toe; his drop kicks added that valuable extra point which often saves a game. Although small in stature, "Phil" was shifty and quick in his offensive attacks. He made some of the most beautiful runs ever seen on Central's gridiron.

"Don" Chrismore

Tackle

"Don" was one of the outstanding players of the season; he charged his opponent with a fierceness that soon made him feared and respected. He also made it very difficult for the opponent's aerial attack to work with any degree of success. Find the heart of the battle and you will find "Don."

"JOHNNY" PEER

Tackle

"Johnny" was injured during a portion of the season, but he made up for lost time in the games in which he could play. He had the "knack" of opening up holes in the enemy's line and of stopping those opponents who tried to slide through his side of the line.

"BOB" SWISHER

Quarterback

"Bobby" is small of stature, but what he lacks in height he makes up for in his knowledge of football tactics. His specialty was hard hitting, quick shifting dashes around the ends. Since he is a Junior, "Bobby" will be back with us next year.

JOHN CARVER

Tackle

"Johnny" makes an excellent tackle because he is quick, shifty, and a good blocker. He is a Junior this year, and will undoubtedly see a great deal of service on next year's squad.

Johnny Carver

the last half, they could not muster enough strength to turn the tide of the game.

CENTRAL-BLOOMINGTON

After the big upset at Lincoln, Central came back with a bound. The boys gave Bloomington all the fight they had and sent them to a 39-7 defeat. It wasn't a case of a snap game with a weak team, for Bloomington had a speedy squad; it was the case of an humbled team fighting to regain its standing. The whole gang was in the scrap that day giving all they had.

CENTRAL-CHAMPAIGN

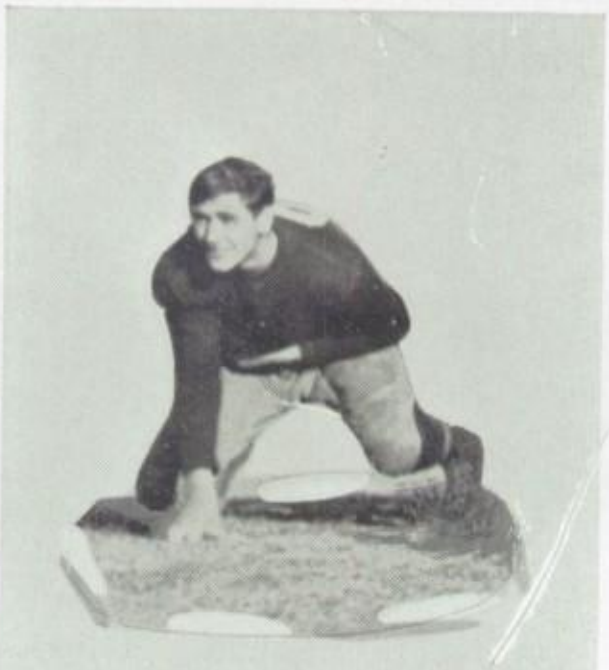
Our next encounter was with the high powered squad from Champaign. This combination came triumphantly bearing a great reputation and a high rating, only to have the Maroons welcome them by throwing a monkey wrench into their highly polished machine. It was a hard fought battle and only by consistent plugging did the Centralites come out on top. Two big features of the game were the 47 yard run and the 20 yard pass which won the touchdowns.

CENTRAL-SPRINGFIELD

"Herk" predicted that the next game would be a real battle, and he was certainly right. The Springfield Senators came to town and performed before a record crowd of Cental and Springfield followers and rather took the Maroons by storm. The down state squad displayed a string of well executed trick plays that were interesting to watch and evidently baffling to play against. The Centralites were doing their best that day and at times threatened the Springfield lead, but the Senators in the end were just too strong for them.

CENTRAL-URBANA

After the big struggle with Springfield, the Maroons had another powerful combination to overcome. This time the formidable foe was Urbana High. For three quarters the two teams fought without a score; then Central scored a line touchdown. "The Old Goal Line Play" worked this time when Stanza of Urbana fumbled the ball, and Eastman of Peoria recovered it and passed it to Claude, who crossed the line.



"Bob" Claude

End

"Bob" was the important factor of our aerial attack. Many a pass he snagged over the goal line to rally up a touchdown. Although he played a fine brand of ball all season, he excelled his previous record in the Turkey Day scrap when he hung up the only touchdown of the day.

"Bob" Mandelkorn

Halfback

This was "Bob's" first season of football, but he turned out to be a gem in the rough. After a little polishing this gem became very valuable to the squad. His tackling and blocking were of that clean sort which is indispensable to any well executed play.

"Kenny" Langabeer

Guard

"Kenny" held down the guard position in admirable fashion. That this was his first year of varsity football was not evidenced by his playing, for he played like a veteran at the game.

"Herb" Walton

End

This year "Herb" developed into an end of real merit. He had trouble in getting started, but the way he came through in the Manual game made everyone sit up and take notice. His love for sports and loyalty to his school made this fellow a valuable man.

"Chuck" White

Halfback

The fact that "Chuck's" balls were always true and well timed made him one of the best passers on the squad this year. In addition to his beautiful passes, he was noted for his runs through center; while his blocking and tackling were of that fine brand that makes the opponent slow up and finally break.

Vernon Wolland

Tackle

Since he was above average on the defense, Wolland played both guard and tackle with equal ability. Like the majority of the men on the 1930 squad, Wolland played his first varsity football this year, but he displayed a spirit that would well class him as a veteran.

CENTRAL-SPALDING

After such a good game the week before, it seemed almost impossible that a team could play as rough and loose a game as the Centralites did against their inter-city foe, Spalding. The Irish band played a brand of ball that seemed to tire the Maroons, for after holding the enemy to a tie in the first half, they just crumbled, and the result was a 20-0 loss for us.

CENTRAL-PEKIN

After the poor showing Central had against Spalding, the critics all "doped" the Pekin game to be a sure win for the "Tazewell County" lads. However, the boys that opposed the Pekin team did not in the least resemble the crushed squad of the week before. "Doc's" combination came through with a bang and kept Pekin from copping the Big Twelve championship by upsetting them by a 19 to 6 score.

PEORIA CENTRAL-MANUAL

The game of games! On Thanksgiving Day the two rivals, Central and Manual, always meet and fight to the finish. Each year excitement runs higher; each year the teams are stronger; and the crowds grow larger. This year our boys were all set for the scrap, and P. H. S. was agog over the big game. Dr. Joel Eastman feted the boys at his home two nights before the big game and gave them a proper send-off.

Who could ever forget that cold November morning and that peppy game? In one of the hardest fought battles of the season, the Centralites defeated their ancient rival by a score of 7-0. The lone touchdown was made by a spectacular pass from Eastman to Claude, and the extra point came from a faked kick and a line plunge by Ames. Every man played a great game, and the team ran like clock work. Many of the fellows were fighting their last battle for their Alma Mater, and they displayed the old P. H. S. spirit as only loyal Centralites can.

This was a game we shall never forget. The Central cheering section went wild with glee at the outcome, and shook the bleachers with their lusty yells. After that glorious game every Centralite went home to Thanksgiving dinner with a happy heart.

AARON BAUMFLEK

Tackle

"Shooky" is of the short, stocky type that hits hard and makes a lasting impression on the offense, and has a dreadful resemblance to a brick wall on the defense. He has the steady nerves and cool head that make an all-round player.

"CHUCK" BARNES

Guard

Although this was his first season of football, "Chuck" held down his guard position like a veteran. His defensive tackling was generally acknowledged to be his strong point, but his offensive blocking ran a close second.

LESTER SMITH

Guard

"Smitty" was the spirit of the team, the type of fellow any squad needs to help it take its losses as well as its victories in the proper spirit. He put all he had into every game, and was indispensable both on the offense and defense.

ROLLAND LYONS

Halfback

"Rol" was a very important factor in the backfield machinery this year. He could snag passes from any position, and carried the pigskin with sure, swift strides. He should be one of the mainstays of next year's team.

"BILL" RUTHERFORD

Junior Manager

"Bill" carried the brunt of the managers' work this year, as all Junior managers must do. It was up to him to help "Bill" Conway in his many tasks, especially in keeping the players' suits in good condition. It will be "Bill's" turn to be the "big boss" next year.

FERREL SAAS

Senior Manager

Ferrel's big job this year was seeing that the younger managers acquired sufficient experience to enable them to carry on their work next year. As Senior manager, he had charge of having the football field and basketball floor in readiness, and the responsibility of taking care of the visiting teams. As this is his last year of service, "Sonny Boy" received his manager's letter.

Cheer Leaders and Trainer Conway

CO-OPERATION with plenty of pep made our cheer leaders popular during the past year. Headed by Ralph Lewis, serving his fourth year with the "white sweatered war dancers," our men raised the Centralites from their seats in cheers of support for our boys. Will we ever forget "What's the matter with the team!"?

Trainer "Bill" Conway has been the official trainer, healer of wounds, and caretaker of most of the equipment since "Doc" Herke came to Peoria High in 1916. Our equipment has received better care under "Bill" than most of the equipment at the large colleges; and because of this, our teams are always proud of their suits. "Bill" is also noted for his soapbox orations. Can we ever forget them, Seniors?

Charles White

Basketball Captain

CHARLES WHITE, Guard

Captain "Chuck" White led his team through one of the most dangerous seasons Central has ever faced. It was the type of season that comes to every school when it has lost a team of five or six veterans and has to start anew with a little experienced team. The fellows had an unusually hard schedule this year; and although they did not win every game, they did very well under the circumstances. The team as a whole got off to rather a slow start in the early part of the season, but later they showed that old P. H. S. spirit in true style.

A great deal of credit belongs to Captain "Chuck" White, who held down the guard position in royal fashion. He stopped the rush of the enemy many a time with his well executed movements, and had the ability to get the ball off the bank board and to snap it into play in our own territory. More than one opponent, much to his dismay, found "Chuck" a very hard man to fight through. It is no difficult task to lead a winning team, but it is another matter to head a "green" team—We should just like to add that "Chuck" did his work well and deserves to be congratulated.

ROLLAND LYONS

Guard

Lyons was one of the mainstays of this year's squad. He is well known throughout the city for his ability to ring up points from all sections of the floor. One of his most thrilling shots was the one which brought us a 25-24 victory in the last minute of play against Streator. It can easily be said that Lyons was one of the outstanding all-round players of the squad.

WARD EASTMAN

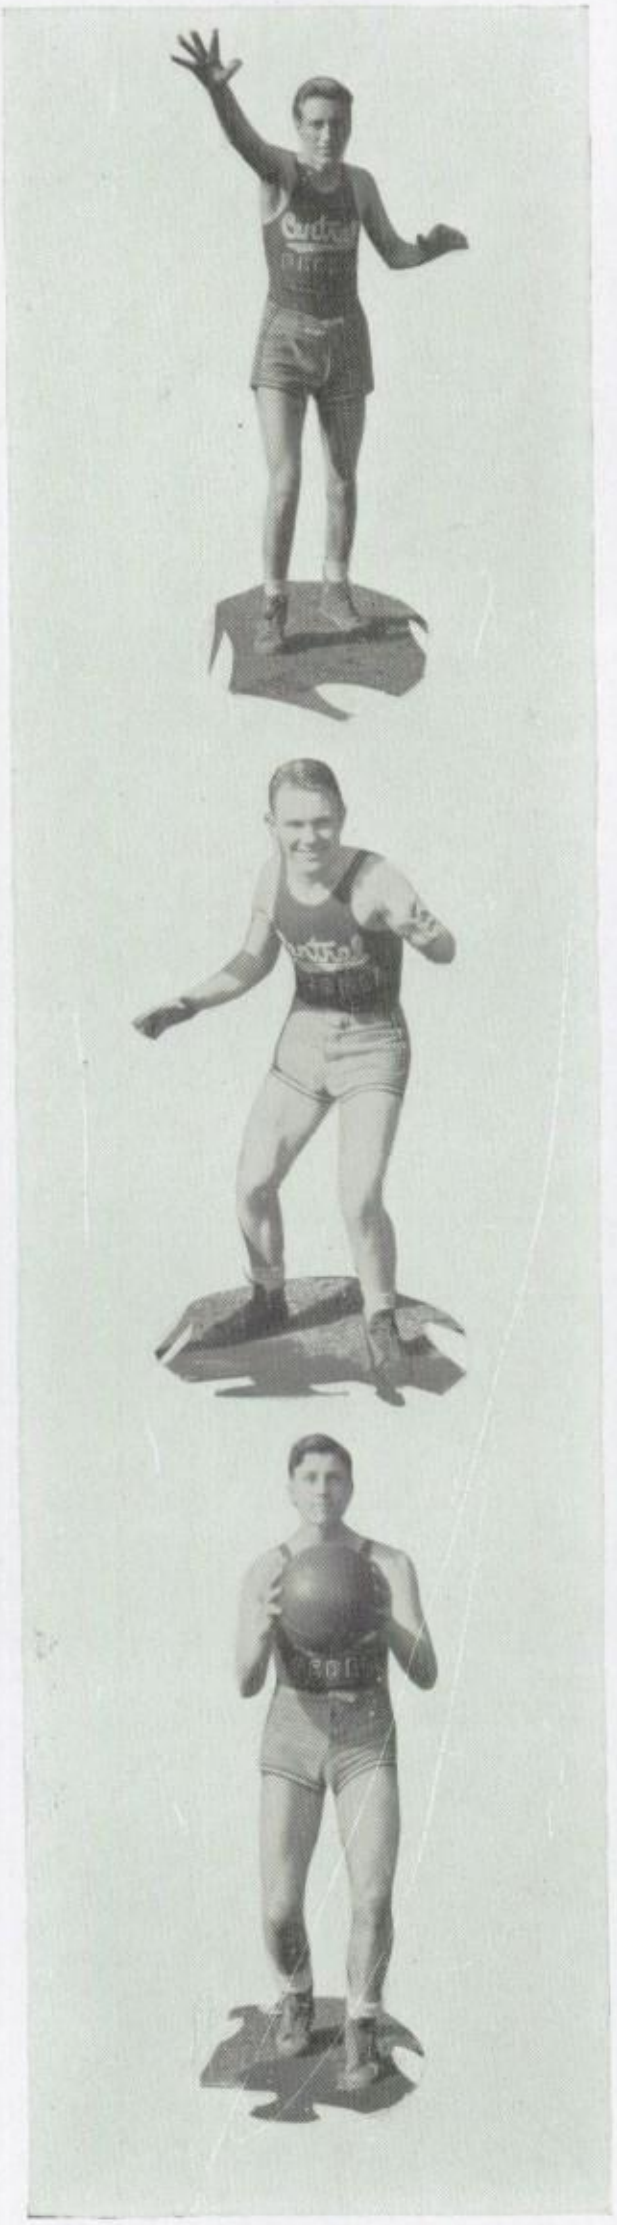
Forward

Although Ward's previous experience had been at the guard position, he played forward this year and filled his berth exceptionally well. His ability to decide quickly and to think accurately in the most tense moments of the battle was best demonstrated by his playing in the second East Peoria game. His accurate shooting and snappy passing were a great asset to the team.

ROBERT SWISHER

Forward

"Bob" had the uncanny ability of intercepting the opponent's passes at the most opportune moment; in addition, his defensive play could be classed among the best on the team. His speedy dashes for the ball in the enemy's territory made more than one opponent have an uncomfortable feeling down his spine.



Basketball Summary

There comes to every school a year when there are no veterans left for a squad. Central was in that condition during this past season of basketball; thus we had a "green" team which "Doc" handled very well.

Our first "go" was with East Peoria, who had an experienced outfit. The result was an 18-16 victory for the "cross river" boys. However, the fellows made up for this loss with a victory over Streator.

During the holidays we played Moline and Lincoln, winning and losing a game respectively. Next came Urbana, to whom we bowed with a loss of 18-25. This seemed to start "old lady luck" on the run, for we received a series of defeats. Among those who scalped us were Kingman, Manual, and Champaign.

Pekin attempted to prolong this streak, but the determined Maroons came through with a 25-8 victory. Next, we bowed to the Canton Plowboys with a 21-14 loss. Determined to get revenge for their previous defeat, the Maroons took East Peoria for a 16-14 jolt, which, by the way, ended their fourteen victory streak. Eastman became the star of the game when he tied the score, and then in an overtime rang up the winning point.

1930-1931

Next the Senators came to town and proved to be too strong for the Central warriors. The result was a 21-10 win for them. Sheahan registered 6 of the Maroon's 10 points.

Our next adventure on the hardwood lost us an inter-city game. The powerful Spalding team threw us for a 20-16 loss. But our revenge was sweet when we took Bloomington to the tune of 19-15.

After the Bloomington game, things looked more favorable for our boys, but they must have struck a hidden rock, for things began to slump, and we lost five straight games. Pekin, Springfield, Manual, Champaign, and Wyoming were the teams that defeated us in this run of hard luck. Wyoming eliminated us from the District Tournament in our first "go" with the score of 17-13.

Although the team had many reverses during the past season, they took their defeats in a sportsman-like spirit; and since many of the players are underclassmen and will be back next year, they will undoubtedly be the wiser for their experiences and will play a better brand of ball.

JOHN SHEAHAN

Guard

"Johnny" is only a Junior, but his brand of ball would do credit to a much older player. His ability to stick with his man and to hang on to the ball made him valuable to the Maroon squad. "Johnny" helped us win more than one game with his accurately tossed balls and good team work. We wish him all the luck in the world for the next season.

CHARLES HARPER

Center

Harper was the ideal center; his long, lanky torso aided him greatly in grabbing the tip-off and in starting us off with a bang. The manner in which he could pull the ball out of the air and quickly snap it to another team-mate helped us to gain more than one point during a close battle.

NORMAN DEOBLER

Sophomore Manager

Deobler's job was to assist Conway in the checking in and out of the suits, and in taking care of the equipment in general. He is a very energetic worker and will well deserve his letter, which he will receive in his Senior year.

Earl English

Track Leaders

EARL ENGLISH, Coach

Coach Earl English again led the Maroon team through a very successful year. Since he has gained wide experience as a track man at Western State College, Kalamazoo, Michigan, Mr. English knows just how to explain the various events and train the boys on the team. Besides his work as track coach, Mr. English is well known here as the instructor in journalism, printing, advertising, and salesmanship, and as faculty adviser of the "Opinion"—"chief of the press-room gang."

"BOB" BUCY, Captain

Captain "Bob" Bucy is a track man not soon to be forgotten by his teammates. In the Big 12 meet he established a new record in the high hurdles by running them in 16.3 seconds. In the district meet at Lincoln, Bucy "the Great" again established a new high hurdling record. Not satisfied with these records, he set a new all-time school record by running the low hurdles in the State meet in 25 seconds flat, and in the Greater Peoria tourney by establishing a new record of 26.7 seconds in the low hurdles.

1931 Cross Country Team

CENTRAL'S Cross Country Team received a severe blow by the loss of Coach Earl English. The absence of a coach, however, did not prevent the fellows from having a team, for they were out there practicing nearly every night.

The harriers opened the season with a loss to Champaign. Collins of Peoria Central finished third and was the only one of our men to place. The Maroons next broke Springfield with a 21-15 victory, Clymer, a Freshman, crossing the line for first place. After a meet at Urbana, the boys went to the Ottawa invitational meet. Our men lost this meet to Pekin only through the failure of a Central man to report to a judge.

The Centralites finished up their season Thanksgiving Day and had the misfortune of losing the race to Manual. Letters were awarded to Capt. Collins, Fogerson, and Clymer.

1930 Inter-Class Track Meets

INDOOR MEET

THE 14th Annual Indoor Inter-Class Meet was won by the Seniors, who finished with a score of 50 points. The Sophomores took second with a score of 30 points, and the Juniors placed third, while the Freshmen failed to hang up a single marker.

"Bob" Morgan, '30, placed first in the high jump, setting a new record of 5' 6.75". This was the only new record of the meet, which bested the old record by 2.5". "Bob" Bucy, a Senior, who, later in the varsity season, set new all-time records in the hurdles, was high point man with 19.25 points. "Chuck" E. Barnes took second with 12 points, while Spurlock and Morgan tied for third with 11.25 points. Charles Bonner and Jordon tied for fourth with Bruce Deobler, a Junior, ringing up 5 markers.

OUT DOOR MEET

Not satisfied with taking one meet, the Seniors copped the Eighth Annual Out Door Meet. By mowing down 54 points, they held a 14 point lead over the Sophomores, who occupied second place. The Juniors had to be satisfied with a third position, while again the Freshmen failed to score.

"Al" Spurlock was the leader of the pack, hanging up 16.75 points, which came largely from firsts in the 880 dash and high jump, and seconds in the 440 and broad jump. "Chuck" Barnes, a Sophomore, held second berth with 11.75 points, and "Bob" Bucy took close third with 11.25 points. "Bob" Morgan, "Rube" Jockish, and Fred Luthy, all Seniors, occupied the next three places. "Bob" Bucy seemed to have a mania for establishing records, as he raked down another one in this meet with 23.6 seconds in the 220 yd. dash. Bucy, Barnes, and Tannhauser covered the dashes in a big way while Spurlock stood out prominently in the middle distances. The Seniors also won the relay with Morgan, Donaldson, Luthy, and Bucy running in the respective positions.

In these two meets the Senior Class proved that it was superior in track as well as knowledge. The Seniors will do well to remember this year of track, for they not only won both inter-class meets, but also supplied some of the best men for the Varsity squad. From the way things look, the Sophomores will have little difficulty in copping the titles during the next two years.

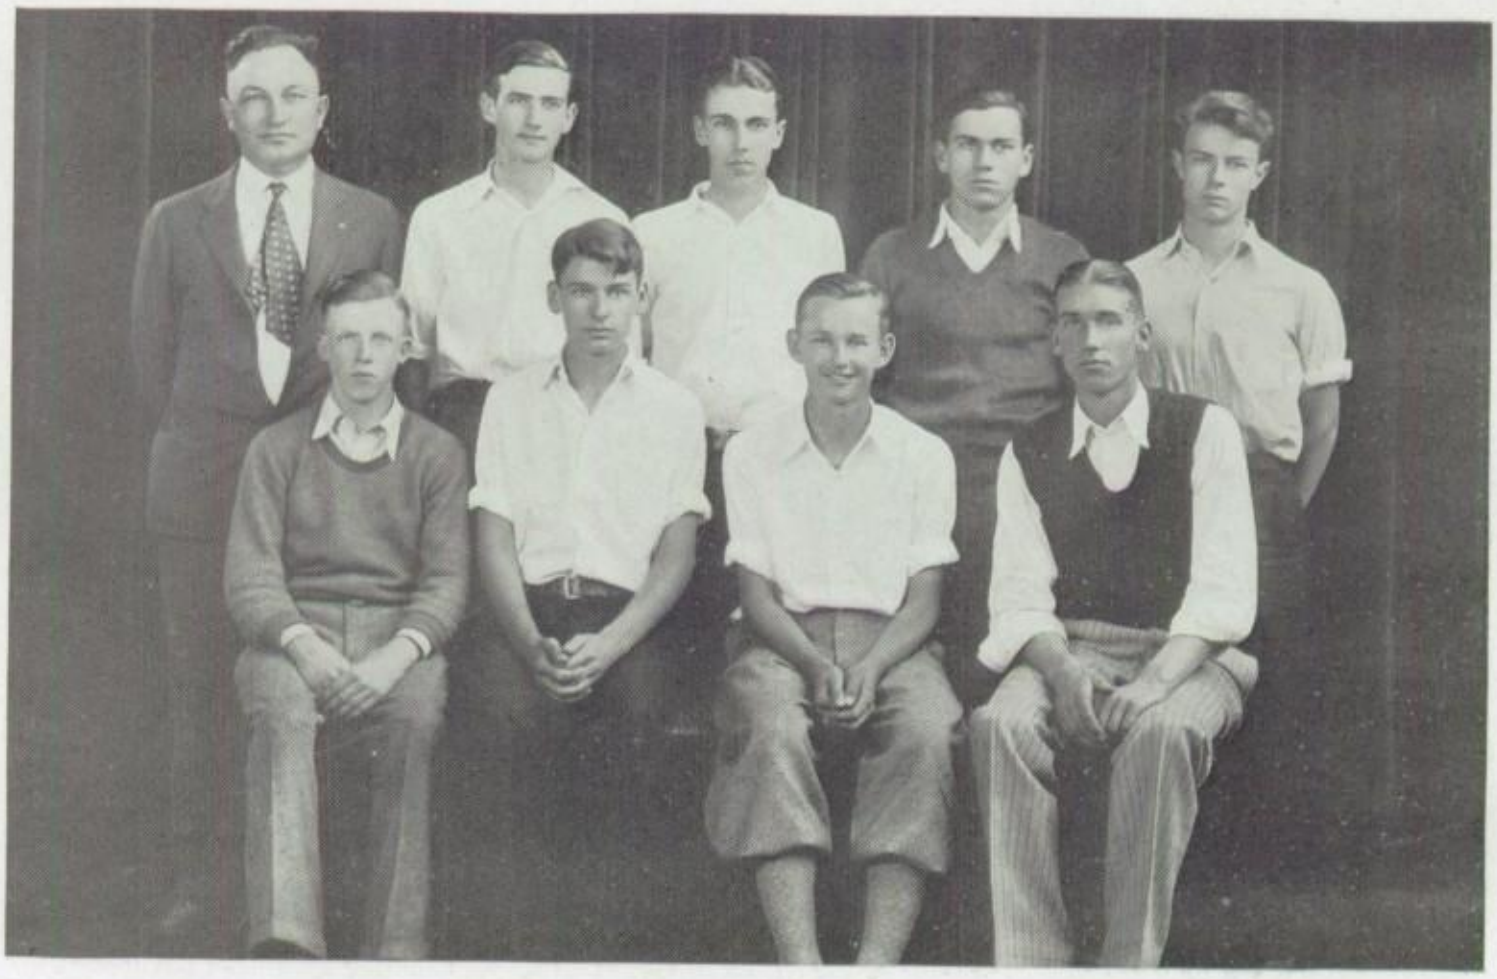
1930 Tennis Team

UNDER THE watchful eyes of Coach "Bob" Sedgwick, Central had a fairly successful tennis season in 1930. With Captain Black as their leader, the team won five of their dual meets and tied the other one. Those won were: two against Manual, two against Spalding, one against Pekin. The one tied was also with Pekin.

The team did not do quite so well in the Big Twelve meet as the 1929 squad did. Black went three rounds, reaching the semi-finals in the singles, and Meigs with Black eliminated Jacksonville and Decatur, but lost to Pekin in the doubles. However, in the district meet at Normal, Illinois, Black and Meigs won the District Championship doubles, while Black lost to Normal in the finals of the singles.

At the State Meet, Black and Meigs were defeated in their first round of doubles.

The letter men were: Capt. Black, H. Blair, and R. Meigs. The players according to rank were Capt. Black, Blair, Meigs, Wahlfeld, Klingle, Coker, Levitin, Siepert, Palmer, Finney, and Tomlinson.



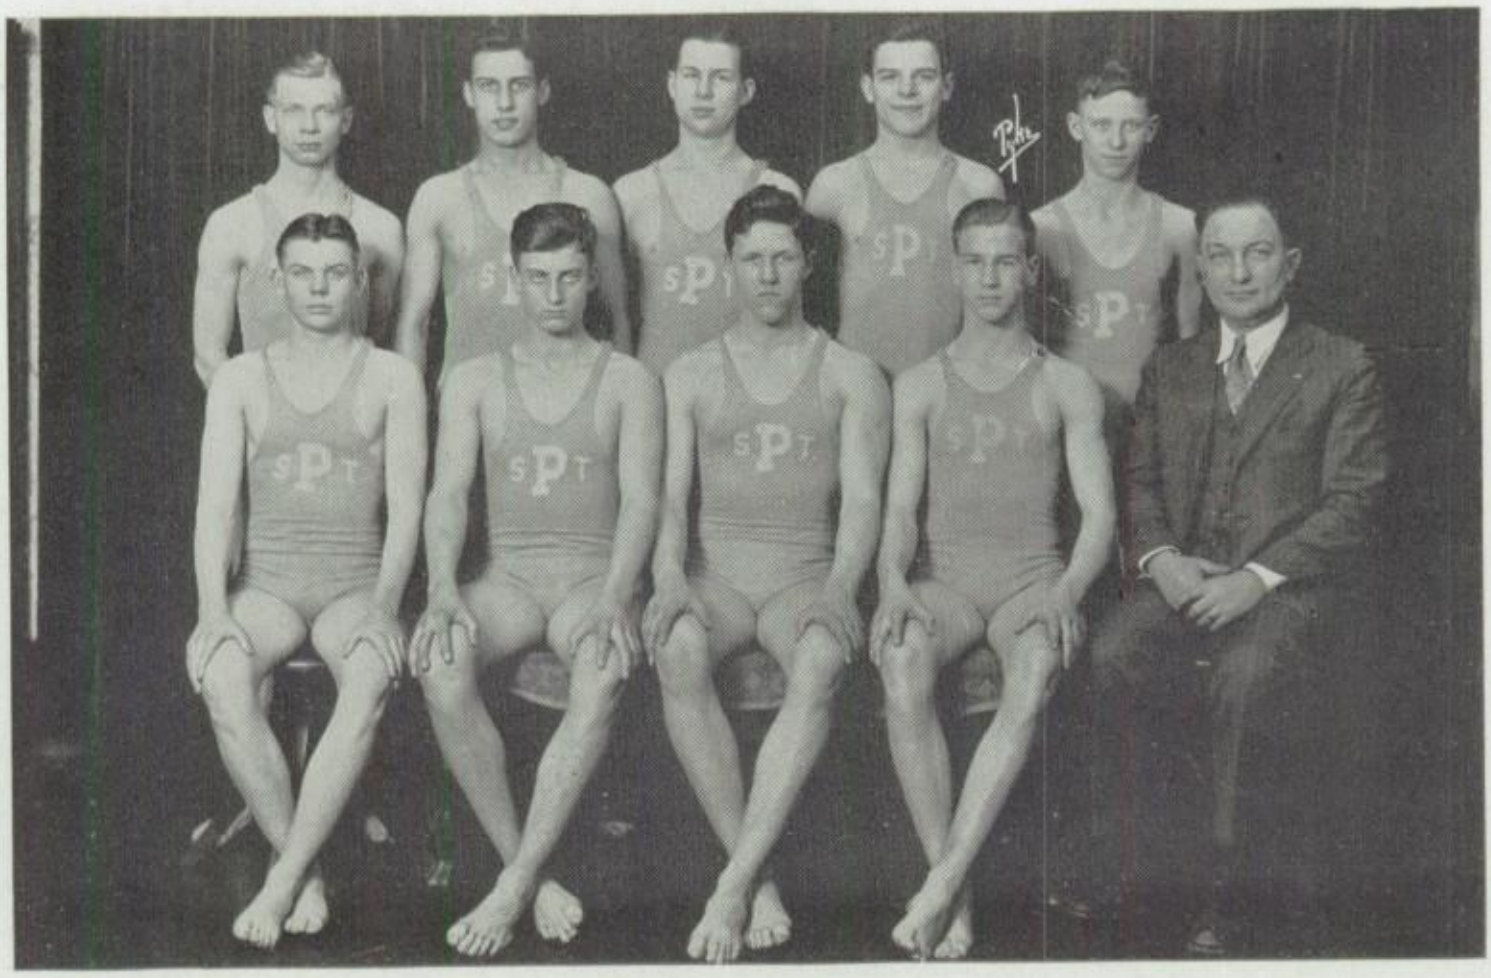
Standing: Mr. Herke, Hill, Hamilton, Durfee, Slane.
Seated: Jones, Welch, Miles, Correll.

1930 Golf Team

THE ABSENCE of a coach seemed to have no ill effects on the golf team, because they played bang-up golf all season, topping it all by taking a close second in the Big Twelve Tourney. Durfee placed second in the individual honors with an 85, and Correll took fourth with an 88. The squad won seven of its dual meets, tied two, and lost none.

At the District Meet held at Eureka, Central qualified six for the State Meet. Those six fellows were Slane, Correll, Durfee, Hill, Welch, and Hamilton. Last year was the first year that District Meets were held to determine those qualified for the State. Out of the six fellows that qualified, Correll and Durfee lived through the first day only to fall before the enemy on the second. Central also had the honor of having her team capture the city title. All in all, Peoria High had one of her best squads this past season, and the prospects for the 1931 team are great.

The squad according to their rating are: Correll, Capt. Miles, Hill, Welch, Durfee, Slane, Jones, Furst, Zinn, Hamilton, Boynton, and Triebel.



Standing: Knock, R. Galvin, Wellbrock, Casey, Ferdinand.
Seated: Fearis, Essex, Ames, Zimmerman, Coach Herke.

THE 1931 Swimming Team had a most successful season this year. They beat Manual's first swimming team by the overwhelming score of 50-10, and took a close second in the Big Twelve Swimming Meet, giving place to Danville High, which has won the meet for eight consecutive years. Our boys are handicapped by the lack of a pool at the school, and it is only through the kindness of the Y. M. C. A. that we can have a team at all. Danville, on the other hand, has a pool in the school proper, and swimming is compulsory there; therefore it stands to reason that they should produce a winning combination.

Captain Kenneth Ames and Harlie Zimmerman acted as coaches for the swimming candidates. These two fellows took a prominent part in every event in which they entered. In every meet, Ames was among the high point men, while Zimmerman earned the title of Fancy Diving Champion of the Big Twelve. Central is certainly proud of them both.

Our team won all of its dual meets, setting a record that they have a right to be proud of. Their first victory was at Streator High School. Next they went to Urbana and defeated them by the score of 49.5 to 10.5. Zimmerman was high point man with Wellbrock, Ames, Galvin, and Fearis taking firsts, which gave us a first in every event. Later in the season, we defeated Champaign twice, and Bloomington and Manual each once—thus ending a perfect record.

Swimming is becoming more and more prominent in school athletics each year. The boys work hard and deserve all the praise old P. H. S. can give them for their efforts. With the brand of teams that are being produced now, there is little doubt but that swimming will become a major sport at Central within a few years.

Advisory Group Basketball

THE Advisory Group League was composed of one league of Juniors and Seniors, and another of Freshmen and Sophomores. This arrangement has been used for the past two years and has proved to be a much better one than the previous leagues of lights and heavies.

This season Miss Giles' Junior group defeated Mr. Sammis' Senior group in the finals of the Junior-Senior Tourney. The Freshmen-Sophomore Tourney was won by Mr. Gambach's Sophomore group, which defeated Mr. Stephen's group of Freshmen.

The winners of the two leagues played a title game, and Miss Giles' group triumphed by the close score of 11-9, which shows in itself how well matched the two teams were.

As it should be, the Seniors came through to win the tourney with five games won and one lost. The teams from each class are composed of the most outstanding players of each class with the exception of the Varsity men. The class games help give the fellows an opportunity to display their playing ability, and in this way aid "Doc" in finding new timber for the Varsity teams.

The league this year was a six game series, giving each squad two bouts with the same opponent. The strong little Freshman quintet was the only team to upset the high and mighty Seniors. The outstanding players of the season were: Seniors, Capt. Grannis, Coker, Saccenti, Belsterling, and Peer; Juniors, Capt. Carrithers, Carver, Finney, and Oakley; Sophomores, Capt. Kellogg, Galvin, and Metroff; Freshmen, Capt. Dent, Hinton, Cole, and Livengood.

"Foot Prints on the Sands of Time"

Like the Indian and the pale face,
Who have smoked the pipe of peace,
May our friendships and our contacts
Never fail and never cease.

May the flame that friendship's kindled
Ever bear a steady glow;
And the memories of school days
Stay with us where e'er we go.

Former graduates have taught us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, in parting, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.

So by way of leaving footprints
You will find recorded here
All the things of great importance
That have happened this last year.

"The Patsy"—I'm sure it's remembered by all.

NOVEMBER

In the evening, a dance at the school was the thing.

Nov. 8—With Spalding our boys played a cracker-jack game;
But Spalding won out, and we thought it a shame.

Our boys won from them in a fine football game.

Until the night "The Lucky Jade" just lifted off the lid.

With baskets we gave the poor good cheer.

Dec. 23—This is the season when to give is really a pleasure;
The glee club gave us quite a treat, and gave in a full measure.

JANUARY

Jan. 2—Any good resolutions on New Year's Day?
Yes, harder to work, and harder to play.

Jan. 11—The Quill and Scroll gave their chapter a name:
It's to be called "Henry Pindell"—of newspaper fame.

Jan. 16—A basketball game with our rival we played,
But Manual won—of this we were afraid.

Class Prophecy, 1931

"THE EYE OF KUKULKAN"

"Louise, do you realize that this was once a god's eye?"

"A god's eye?"

"Yes, one of the eyes of Kukulkan, the Feathered Serpent."

"The god the Mayans worshipped?"

I nodded.

"Now, listen here, Max Bass, if you think that because I work on a newspaper, I'm going to swallow anything, you're badly mistaken."

The irate newspaper woman was Louise Bryan, an old school mate of mine, and now literary editor of the New York Times. She had come to interview me about a recent archeological expedition which I had conducted, under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institute.

The object of the argument was a crystal ball lying on the desk before me. It was an unusual crystal globe—about the size of a man's head, and of a mysterious blue crystal that seemed to give off rays of dancing light.

"All right then, I'll tell you how I found it.

"Two years ago I discovered the last of the Books of Chilam Balam, the only remaining records of the ancient Mayan Indian civilization, and finally succeeded in deciphering all but one of them. These records revealed many priceless bits about that ancient people. One passage was particularly interesting."

Then I told her that the chapter related that Tecum Uman, the famous warrior king of Maya, built and dedicated the city, Chitchen Itza, to Kukulkan, the Feathered Serpent. And in that city he caused a pyramid to be built, and atop that acropolis he erected a temple, the most beautiful in all Maya.

"Also, Louise, that chapter speaks of a chamber within the pyramid itself.

"Well, a bunch of us boys from the Smithsonian thought we might find some valuable relics, so we looked the ruins of that acropolis over and finally found the hidden chamber.

"The entrance was at the base of the pyramid, and the room itself was reached by a long tunnel. I'll never forget that chamber.

"When we first flashed our lights in there, we were nearly scared to death. A big green eye was glaring at us from the shadows. It was one of the eyes of a hideous idol, one with the body of a serpent, the plumage of the Quetzal bird, and the features of a man. It was Kukulkan. His other eye had fallen out and lay upon the floor—shattered.

"And in front of the idol stood an altar, on which we found the remains of the Sacred Fire, which, no doubt, had died hundreds of years before.

"And, Louise, every thing in that unearthly place was black. That grisly idol was black; the walls were pitch black; the altar was of black stone. Even the charred remains of that sacred fire added to the gloom of the place. The only thing that wasn't black was that infernal eye that seemed to look right through us.

"I finally roused enough courage to look old Kukulkan over. I happened to touch his eye and the thing literally popped out into my arms. I'll bet I was the most scared man in all Maya.

"Well, we brought Mr. Kukulkan's optic home with us, and here it is."

Louise still seemed sceptical. She glanced at her watch.

"Oh, I didn't realize it was so late. This is a fine time to be finishing an interview—twelve o'clock."

I turned out the lights and was just leaving the study when the clock struck midnight. Then I happened to think of something.

"Just a minute, Louise, I forgot to put my eye away."

I faced about; I stood stock still and stared.

A ray of moonlight was filtering in through the curtains into the darkened rooms, and was striking upon the crystal ball. And that ball was glowing with a cold, unearthly light.

"Hey, Louise, come here a minute," I hissed.

She gaped at the thing in goggle eyed wonder.

Suddenly a dark speck appeared at the center of the glowing globe; it grew larger and larger. Then it began to take shape; it became a picture in which tiny figures moved about. As each picture faded, another grew and took its place.

We saw scenes of great cities, Indian bazaars, mountain views, scenes on the sea and under the sea, scenes all over the world. And what was most amazing —many of the characters in these pictures were old school mates of ours—friends we never thought we'd see again. We stared into that crystal and saw what they were doing, and now we know that:

Class Will, 1931

ABOUT A WEEK after the eventful interview with Professor Max Bass of the Smithsonian Institute, I had revived sufficiently to remember that in the course of his talk he had mentioned a document found among the Books of Chilam Balam which he had been unable to decipher, but had promised to show me because of the unusually intricate characters of the language in which the document was written.

I tucked my reporter's pad under my arm and set out for his offices. By some chance, I found him pouring over the selfsame document which was the object of my second visit.

Upon my remarking about his defeated expression, he told me that this was the first time in all his career as an archaeologist, that he had been so completely baffled. With a disgusted expression upon his face he passed the aged parchment to me.

Although I knew little or nothing of deciphering, I could plainly see what a task he had before him. It hardly seemed possible to me that anyone could have ever made anything out of the characters before me.

I cast my eye over the yellowed paper and—what was that! I grew pale, looked at Max, pointed to a single large character about half way down the first page.

Max took the paper and stared. "Why . . . why . . . . , Louise Bryan, that's the way you used to make your capital d's when we were in high school. By Jove, it's your own handwriting, and this is the 1931 class will which disappeared so mysteriously years ago!! I remember now I had it when I was exploring that pyramid of Tecum Uman. I must have placed some of the pieces of parchment in the same pocket with this will, and in that way have gotten them mixed."

We placed the precious paper on the table, and after hours of toil deciphered the following:

He: "This picture looks like another 'he and she' joke. What do you suppose they'll label it?"

She: "Just an o'd Spanish Custom, or something."

He: "Let's fool 'em and talk about something elevating."

She: "Clothes, f'rinstance. This dress I'm wearing came from The B & M Miss Teen Shop. Like it?"

He: "Um Hum. And this suit which sets off my athletic figure so well, came from the B & M University Shop."

She: "Let's label the picture, 'We Make a Peach of a Pair'."

He: "And how!"

Smart young moderns have chosen their clothing at the B & M for years . . . . . just as their parents and grandparents have found it the dominating style store for over forty-one years.

NEW-COMERS TO P.H.S.

A number of students entered P.H.S. after the second semester had started. We'd like to introduce them to you:

David Brown, a Junior, came from Champaign. He thinks that the school spirit at Peoria High is better than at Champaign, and says, "Everyone here is so accommodating—pupils and teachers alike." He is interested in athletics.

There are three other new members of the Junior Class. They are Betty Walters, from Flagstaff, Arizona; Louise Teiken, from Piper City, and Jeanne Ronstram, from Galesburg. Betty is interested in musical activities, especially glee club, and Louise and Jeanne were both active in athletics at the schools from which they came.

New Sophomores are Edwin Hurd, from Frankfurt, Ky., and James Cole from Springfield. James is particularly interested in art work. We hope he likes to make posters!

Earl Stewart, Myrtle Pyell, and Frances Jones are all Freshmen: from Pekin, Pontiac, and Manual, respectively. The first two admitted, on being interviewed on the subject, that they liked athletics. Myrtle expects to be here only until the close of school in June.

The office force at P.H.S. has also a new and welcome addition to its staff. Miss Haase left in February to resume her work at Bradley, and her place was taken by Miss Nell Toberty. We are glad to see Miss Toberty's smiling face "behind the bars"!

TWINS!

Peoria High has seven pairs of twins this year. Four of them are Freshmen boys. Edgar and Edwin Barr have very similar names, while the Basile boys have very unusual ones: Edolo and Eluterio. Robyn and Robert Weaver are also Freshmen. How does anyone know Harold and Donald Stephens apart?

The Schad twins, the only ones in this year's graduating class, are named Lydia and Lillian. One half of the Cowden team, Margy, is a Senior, while her twin, Mary, is a Junior. These girls look so much alike that they answer to either name. Perhaps the most different are the Dillon girls, Juniors. Elizabeth and Virginia surely don't look like twins—not much like sisters, even.

UNSUNG HEROES

They're the ones who are behind the scenes doing the hard jobs, sometimes the dirty work, and not receiving much glory for it.

Chief among these are, of course, the stage crew, the Opinion and the Crest workers, the prefects, and the members of class and club committees.

Unsung heroes in the Senior Class are Iona Harshbarger, under whose guidance Seniors have attained and kept the lead in banking; George Furst, who helped with the 1930 Junior Prom and Prom assembly and with committee work this year; and Mary Jane Bodine, who took the title role in the Senior Class Play.

Juniors who deserve recognition are many: Art Gearheard and Adrian Knock, who sold many Prom tickets; Robert Anderson, who supplied an orchestra for the Prom assembly; Curtis Hoggatt, who made the effective silver screen used at the Prom; Jeanne Christian, who conducted the "Pre-Prom" dancing classes; and many dependable committee workers, among them Dale Freeburg, Berna Dean Sturm, Loretta Beezley, Danella Hansen, Lucille Knobloch, and Janet Niederhauser.

Jusendra's willing workers include Richard Belsterling, Harriet Foster, Gladys Hewitt, Hazel Davenport, Caroline Meals, Joe Rogers, Fred Simpson, and Russell Ziegle, who work here, there, and everywhere; Frances Blair, Patricia Braun, Jack Markgraf, Mardelle Mohn, and Albert Siepert, who have done typing; and Fred Bourland, in charge of the State Fair Exhibit.

Besides these, there are many others; so here's to all the unknown workers and unsung heroes of Peoria High School!

First Latin Student: "What was that Latin song the mixed chorus sang at assembly today?"

Second Latin Student: "It was called 'Ave Verum.' I think it means 'Farewell, Truth'."

Stop! Look! Listen!
Students mind these cautions well.
They Stop! (work) Look! (at the clock)

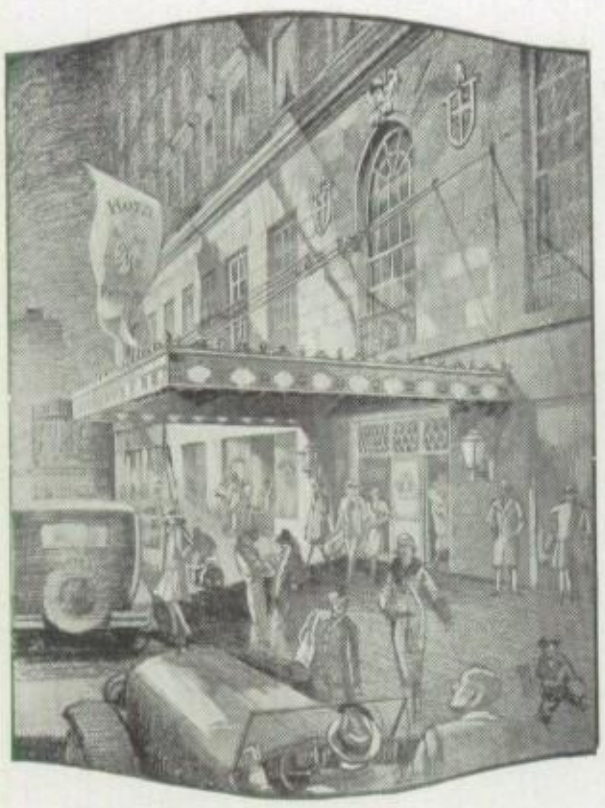
the younger set is dining out



—taking liberal advantage of the fine foods and faultless service in the LaSalle Room. Each evening, 6 to 9, and on Sunday noons, the dinner de luxe. And what a royal feast it is—a revelation from the hors d'oeuvres to the demi tasse—only one-fifty. In the LaSalle Room, too, the ever popular Milady's luncheon at eighty-five cents and a la carte service from breakfast to midnight.

The Art Preservative

BACK through the ages it has been the desire of the human race to leave a record of its achievements. On the walls of his cavern home, man scratched his history. The pyramids, the Indian mounds, are but books of by-gone years. Each race striving to make its record most impressive and imperishable.

While we still build our monuments, yet when we write history today, we turn not so much to the sculptor or the builder, as to the printer—that deft artist and preserver of—"The Art Preservative of Arts."

Bishop's Speaking

(with no apologies to a certain radio feller)

GREETINGS to you. We're mighty glad to see your beaming faces scanning this issue of the Crest. And it will give us even more pleasure if you'll bring those self-same faces to Bishop's and stuff 'em with Bishop's fine foods. Do it often. Which leads us to announce that our chef always has some dandy treats in store for you.

John Ziegele: "If increasing the surface increases the speed of reaction why don't they powder coffee?"

Jack Gable: "They couldn't use it a second time."

Dick Cole: "Where is Alabama?"

Jim Bierly: "In southern United States."

Dick Cole: "I know that, but what state is it in?"

Tourist: "What state am I in?"

Frank Gillette: "The solid state, of course."

Joe Daily (Latin student) says that the principal parts of the verb bite are: Dogo, Dogere, Pupsi, Bitus.
